Suit challenges double bunking

By JIM SCHLUETER
Declaring that county taxpayers have already paid enough for modern jail facilities, State's Attorney Don Weber is going to fight Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahn's suit to stop double bunking at the county jail.

The suit, filed Wednesday said that the county is violating the state code of corrections by putting two prisoners in cells that have less than 50 square feet of space.

Ironically, old jails built before the state prison code are exempt from the code, while jails built after the code, such as the county jail, must conform, he said.

"The Supreme Court said it (double bunking) is not cruel and inhuman punishment if it is in a modern facility," Weber said. "The question is whether this is cruel and inhuman punishment."

"All you have to do is look at the jail. It has new kitchens, day rooms, air conditioning, all kinds of facilities. By no means is it cruel and inhuman punishment."

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith has said that the county would not be able to win the suit, which names the county board, Sheriff Emil Toffant and the county as defendants in the suit.

"Ultimately I think we have to conform to the standards," Smith said. Smith has been negotiating with corrections officials in an effort to avoid legal action, and he was surprised the suit was filed.

"I was really optimistic. I honestly don't believe this," he said. "I really thought everything was on an even keel. We had been talking about jail population and some other things." However, Weber thinks the county can beat the state, which also double bunks in its own prisons, Weber said, "what is good for the goose is good for the gander," and that he's ready to get started.

"Zeke was negotiating this case, but we're not negotiating anymore, we're fighting," Weber said.

"No jail prisoner has ever filed a civil rights suit against us. It's a bunch of bureaucrats complaining."

SUIT AGAINST COUNTY

alleges that the county has violated Illinois Department of Corrections regulations frequently by putting two prisoners in cells designed for one. Sheriff Emil Toffant and every member of the Madison County Board is included among the respondents in the suit. Subpoenas were served Thursday and Friday on those being sued.

Weber thinks the conditions are more than adequate in the new jail, which opened in 1980.
"The taxpayers have just been socked for building a new jail," Weber said. "The state doesn't have any business telling our already overburdened taxpayers to provide a country club for criminals."

The state has warned the county about legal action if double bunking was not stopped, but the county has said that the increased number of prisoners in the 110-capacity jail forces the county to put two in a cell.

Weber cited a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that says the practice is legal if the jail is in good condition.

Renunciation a condition of release?

An agreement by Dr. Hector Zevallos to renounce abortions was part of the process by which he and his wife were released Aug. 20 after being kidnapped for eight days, Newsweek says in its issue dated today.

The renunciation was said to be "the main thing they wanted," there was no talk of ransom.

The magazine said the two were kidnapped at gunpoint by three men, one middle-aged and the other two under 30, who gained entry to their spacious Country Club Estates home on the pretext of wanting to see land the couple was trying to sell.

The owner-operator of the Hope Clinic for Women here and his wife,

Rosalie Jean, were handcuffed and blindfolded through most of their captivity and were unable to pinpoint where they were held. The site is believed to have been within a radius of

Ready to build 121-unit apartment complex

Construction of a $3 million apartment complex on Parkview Drive is expected to be begun within two weeks. In the 121-unit development, approximately half will be one-bedroom units for elderly and half will be townhouse family units.

Although the project will be privately owned and privately financed, 30 percent of the units will be set aside for tenants qualifying for federal Section 8 rent subsidy.

The development will be monitored by the Illinois Housing Department Authority. The state is acting as a bonding agent for the project, making lower interest rates possible for the developers. Final financial arrangements for the project were expected to be completed with the week.

The development will cover 6.7 acres of land and will hold seven two-story buildings to house families and one larger three-story building for senior citizens.

Plans call for each apartment to be equipped with a cooking range, refrigerator and garbage disposal. Laundry facilities also will be provided. Each apartment will be carpeted and air conditioned.

Despite the location of the proposed apartment complex — near Parkside Apartments, which offer some Section 8 rent subsidization — both Sixth Ward aldermen say they oppose the project. However, their opposition is not expected to affect construction plans.

According to Aldermen Stephen Saltsch, his objection is based on the location of the proposed development, which borders expensive homes in the Town and County Subdivision.

Saltsch said, however, that he reviewed the plans during a brief meeting with the developer at city hall several weeks ago and had no objections to the plans themselves. "I think it's a good break for the elderly," he stated.

Alderman Walter Milton said he will have to oppose the project because of the low-income requirement for some of the units. "I have mixed feelings," he said. "I would hate to see the area deteriorate."

Milton said that, so far, he has been able to find out very little about the project.

Milton was a member of the Granite City Housing Authority Board of Commissioners about 18 months ago, when Stanley Lucas Jr. approached members about a similar project for the area. According to the alderman, the proposal was discouraged.

Lucas, who was coordinator for the Town & Country subdivision's development, is assisting a private developer with the current project.

Despite the objections of the Sixth Ward aldermen, Mayor Paul Schuler noted that the council has little authority concerning the project. The city Engineering Department accepted a $7,200 check for a building permit for the project in January.

be charged with supervising the project, according to the mayor.

The private developer is expected to establish an office here and act as landlord when the apartments are open.

Although the mayor and the city engineer both attended the short meeting with the developer, Schuler said, he would be "a little surprised" to see construction start within the projected two-week period. "I guess the construction industry will be happy about it, and probably the senior citizens," the mayor noted.

During the meeting with the mayor, the developer sought information concerning transportation for elderly residents of the development. Schuler pledged that township vans will be made available to the seniors there. The site is not on a regular bus line, but is within walking distance of a small confectionery.

According to plans submitted to the engineering department, the three-story, 60-unit building, reserved for the elderly, will include six apartments for the handicapped.

Recreational facilities for the senior citizens will have room for indoor and outdoor passive activities. A shuffle board and game area will be available outside. Inside, a hobby and craft area will be provided.

The seven two-story family townhouse units will contain 19 one-bedroom units, 28 two-bedroom units, and 10 three-bedroom units. Plus, there will be three units reserved for the handicapped.

The two-story buildings will have a first floor brick and second-story frame exterior. Extensive landscaping for the project is promised.

Adult recreational facilities will include basketball and volleyball areas and a community building for social functions. A complete kitchen and dining area will be located there.

Plans also show parking room for 176 vehicles, including nine spaces for handicapped. Bicycle parking also will be provided.

The construction period is expected to take about 12 months. Applications for occupancy of the apartments will be accepted three months, prior to the opening date.

Each applicant could be subject to unannounced housekeeping inspections. Subsidized tenants also could be subjected to an inspection of their tax records, since compliance with financial guidelines is part of the federal subsidy program.

The Parkside Apartments, directly south of the proposed complex, qualified this May for Section 8 rent subsidy for 15 of its 64 apartment units. Most of the other Parkside units also must be rented to tenants meeting low-income requirements.

The federal government is shifting towards rent subsidy, rather than supporting entire housing projects, as a means to offer housing to low-income individuals.

Open ambulance service

Campbell Ambulance Service will accept calls from Granite City and neighboring communities when it opens for business Wednesday, Sept. 1, from a recently-purchased building in Pontoon Beach.

That is the intent of Roger Campbell, owner, operator and self-described "chief cook and bottle washer" of the service.

"I intend to file for a license," Campbell said, referring to the city ordinance passed Tuesday requiring private ambulance services to purchase a $500 annual license. The ordinance will take effect 10 days after its publication, or around Sept. 10. However, he is not optimistic that the license will be granted under the new city ordinance which states the license may be denied if an additional emergency service is not deemed necessary.

He said that the ambulance service's attorney has expressed concern to the city attorney that, if Campbell is licensed, Granite City could be in violation of federal anti-trust laws.

There had been speculation that the city was attempting to create a near-monopoly with a proposed $2,500 city license fee for new ambulance services in the area and Campbell is inclined to agree. The council decided at its last meeting however, that the fee should be $500 a year, rather than $2,500.

Campbell says his rates are lower than the city's — a $70 charge for emergency cases and $60 for non-emergency runs. An additional $1.85 per mile is charged after the patient is picked up and oxygen and other non-reusable items require an additional fee.

Campbell added that the state requires private ambulance services to be licensed. However, he said, his service already is licensed by Illinois, "which is actually all you need to operate."

The ambulance service was started in 1973. Before that, Campbell worked for another service.

Based in Centralia, Campbell operates a division in Alton and said he believes the Granite City service area is similar to Alton's.

Two crews will work "around the clock" at the Pontoon Beach office with two units available at all times. Campbell also is negotiating agreements with Nameoki and Chouteau townships and Venice. For the time being, however, "We will take calls from anywhere (in the area)," including Granite City, Campbell said.

Madison school pact

John Palchiff, Madison superintendent of schools, announced Friday that a three-year pact was approved by the Madison Board of Education at a special meeting Thursday night. The proposal was ratified last Friday night by the teachers' union.

The school board's negotiating committee consisted of Wade James, assistant superintendent of schools and Superintendent Palchiff. The teachers' team consisted of six Madison teachers.

The teachers agreed to a eight percent salary hike for the first year, a seven percent increase for the second year, and a six percent increase for the third year, it was announced.

The contract was not approved unanimously by the teachers, but there were no major disagreements on how the new contract read. The ratification by the board members Thursday night proved "just a matter of formality," Palchiff said.

This was the first three-year contract approved by the school board and the teachers. In past years, only one-year contracts were drawn up and approved. This contract for the school years of 1982-83, '83-84 and '84-85, was a breakthrough for Madison teachers and board members, one staff member indicated.

Some staff members indicated that they would have preferred a two-year contract, but approved the three year contract. "With the economic situation as it is and the lack of jobs, the board members took the opportunity and used it to their advantage," said one concerned teacher.

One item in the contract was referred to a specific health insurance committee consisting of both teachers and administrators. There remains a need for negotiations on the health insurance, but it is not known when that part of the contract will be resolved.

The school district's custodians are in the process of negotiating a contract and, after their contract is approved, the secretaries will begin negotiations, Palchiff noted.

Trust Bank closing Delmar walk-up facility Friday

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record
Feet and money just do not have as much in common these days as at one time they did.

Due to the convenience of drive-through lanes and a lack of "foot traffic," Granite City Trust & Savings' Delmar Quick-Bank walk-up on Delmar Avenue just south of Niedringhaus Avenue will permanently close its doors at the end of business Friday.

The decision to close the walk-in was made several months ago because "activity has fallen off and it just is not economically to keep it open," Drew Karandjeff, Granite City Trust & Savings president, said.

The main 1900 Edison Ave. location, its drive-through lanes, and the Total Teller automatic branches provide customers with adequate service, Karandjeff said. Additionally, the bank's new facility in the 2400 block of Madison Avenue is scheduled to open Oct. 4 with lobby and drive-through facilities.

Employees of the walk-in will work at the bank's other facilities, he said. The walk-up bank opened in the early 1980s, but present emphasis on drive-through facilities has caused a decline in its customers. Granite City Trust & Savings owns the building where the walk-in is located. Bert's Television and South-Western Cable TV also are located in the building.

A decision about use of the walk-in area after Friday has not been made, but Karandjeff said there is no talk at this time of selling the building.

ITS FINAL WEEK.

Granite City Trust & Savings Bank's Delmar Avenue walk-up facility will close at the end of the banking day Friday. Officials said it is the victim of a change in American banking habits which have made drive-through facilities more popular than walk-up windows. The bank's second complete banking facility is nearing completion in the 2400 block of Madison Avenue.

Specialized cancer unit opens here

The number of residents stricken with cancer in St. Elizabeth Medical Center's service area is 11 percent higher than the state average and exceeds the national average by eight percent.

Theodore "Ted" Ellerman, St. Elizabeth Medical Center vice president, emphasized those statistics at ribbon-cutting ceremony for a new Oncology Unit, citing the figures as a reason a specialized facility for the treatment of cancer was opened here.

Dr. Leo Sachar, SEMC Governing Board vice chairman, said 25 percent of the patients in hospitals now are being treated for cancer. The growing overall percentage could be due to the increasing age of the general population, he said.

The treatment of cancer had been confined to the surgical removal of the cancer tumor, Dr. Sachar said. "Now there is hope even for those whose tumors are inoperable."

Chemotherapy, the treatment of disease by means of chemicals intended to have a toxic effect on cancerous cells, now is an essential tool when combating the disease. Dr. Sachar cautions, however, that chemotherapy is a double-edged sword.

"It can kill as well as cure," the doctor said. Experience suggests that type of therapy is best undertaken in a specialized unit such as the Oncology Unit at the medical center, he said. Chemotherapy has a long way to go before it produces uniform results for all cancer patients, Dr. Sachar noted. Some lives can be saved, while others can be prolonged through proper treatment. However, the unit is dedicated to serving as a comfort to all patients affected by cancer, regardless of the degree of cancer.

"We want to get across that this is not a death ward," Sister Mary Thomas, SEMC president and board chairman, said. "Curing cancer is now a reality."

Families are encouraged to visit the ward by the visible home-like setting at the unit, according to the president. The unit provides complete kitchen quarters, private areas for children and two lounges, where family members may stay overnight.

The kitchen facilities allow visitors to prepare foods that are particularly enjoyable to the patients. The home-like setting also is intended to serve the added purpose of offering families a place to rest while dealing with a member's illness.

Two beds at the 22-bed unit are set aside for the center's Hospice of Madison County group, which emphasizes physical, emotional and spiritual comfort for persons with advanced illnesses and for their family members. Those two beds are available for the terminally ill.

Preparations for the unit began about two years ago, Sister Mary Thomas said, when Dr. Williams Popovic, an SEMC oncology staff member, first approached the medical center's Auxiliary. Members contributed $150,000 for the conversion of the fifth floor of the Doctors' Wing to the Oncology Unit.

Ellerman praised the continuing contribution of the Auxiliary. The latest donation for the cancer unit follows a total of $750,000 the group was raised for various improvement projects, he said.

The Oncology Unit represents a desire by the medical center to upgrade the care of cancer patients here, Popovic said. "You don't need a unit like this...unless you plan on improving the care of the patients."

The unit will be used "more and more to cure the patient," the doctor said. "That's what the unit is basically for."

The same care went into the conversion of the unit, when Sue Fever, R.N. and nurse manager of the unit, involved herself in the design

during the conversation stage. The medical center started accepting patients for the last week.

2nd new river lock vital, Danforth says

By U.S. SENATOR JACK DANFORTH

Two great arteries of water-borne commerce come together above St. Louis: the upper Mississippi River and the Illinois River and waterway.

The first is a navigable waterway stretching north to Minneapolis; the second is a link to the great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Between their confluence and the uninterrupted water of the lower Mississippi River stand two linchpins of the entire inland waterway system: Locks and Dams 26 and 27. Together, they lock through more traffic than any other facility in the United States.

Granite City Locks and Dam 27 consists of a 1,200-foot chamber and an auxiliary 600-foot chamber, constructed in 1963. But Alton Locks and Dam 26 is no such modern structure. It was built in 1938 and has chambers only 600 and 300 feet in length.

The facility is deteriorating and in frequent need of repair. Even when functioning properly, it is so understated that barges must wait in line a day or more to pass through.

This situation could not long be allowed to continue, and in 1978 Congress authorized the fact by authorizing construction of a replacement lock — 1,200 feet in length — near Alton.

The need to have identical structures at 26 and 27 seems obvious: at all, both have to handle the same river traffic.

And the need for a second lock appears equally obvious: at such a critical juncture in the river, a failure in the main lock could prove disastrous.

On Aug. 19, joined by 11 of my Senate colleagues, I introduced legislation to complete the process of modernization begun in 1978.

My bill would authorize construction of a second, 600-foot lock to match the configuration downstream at Locks and Dam 27.

The estimated cost of the second lock is $200 million, compared to a cost of $875 million for the first lock.

This is not a project of interest to only one or two states. It is a critically needed improvement in the commercial waterway system serving the entire Midwest.

More than 120 million tons of commodities, including nearly 50 million tons of grain, moved on the upper Mississippi River system in 1980.

Traffic delays at Locks and Dam 26 during the summer of 1980 often ran from three to five days.

The upper Mississippi River basin commission found that construction of a second lock at Alton would result in an excess of benefits to costs of between $6 million and $17 million a year — benefits that will be reflected in consumer prices and in costs to farmers and other shippers.

In addition, prompt action on a second lock will save at least $25 million by enabling construction to proceed smoothly without interruption from the first lock to the second.

My bill also includes a substantial commitment to environmental concerns — $53.94 million in authorization for four programs recommended by the upper Mississippi commission in its master plan for the river system, issued on Jan. 1 of this year.

A report stated Wilson had been warned earlier that day to stay away from the property after he had made threatening remarks and struck a tree with a baseball bat, it was alleged.

ARREST ON CONDUCT
Mrs. R. Marlene Taylor, 49, of W. Wilson Park Lane was charged with disorderly conduct at 10:35 p.m. Thursday on a complaint signed by Janet Levy, who said Mrs. Taylor was following her auto and attempting to prevent her from entering the Granite City police building. A cash bond of $35 was posted.

Authorized under the bill are a habitat rehabilitation and enhancement program; a long-term resource monitoring program; a computerized inventory and analysis program; and a recreational program.

I believe this package strikes a fair and reasonable balance between the need for navigational improvements and the concern for the river system's environment as a whole. I intend to press for its prompt consideration.

Madison man is arrested, charged

Richard J. Wilson, 32, of 1800 S. Madison, was taken into custody last week near his home by Madison police and turned over to Granite City officers who charged him with criminal trespass to land and disorderly conduct.

In a court appearance, Wilson pleaded innocent and was released on a $5,000 recognizance bond.

The charges stemmed from an incident at the home of Suzanne Patterson, 2604 Iowa St., where Wilson allegedly threatened the woman and reportedly took a drawer from a chest of drawers shortly before his arrest.

A report stated Wilson had been warned earlier that day to stay away from the property after he had made threatening remarks and struck a tree with a baseball bat, it was alleged.

Ah, the joys of driving in GC

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Having lived away for several years while pursuing academia, I had forgotten the joy of driving in Granite City. The memory has been refreshed, however, in three short months of driving the streets here.

Granite City drivers rival those who traverse the Chicago expressways, but there is one attendant problem with that. Streets here are not the same as the high-speed expressways in the North.

There are five distinct types of drivers traveling the streets here.

1—The Braker — This type of driver brakes for everything and nothing. Often found in the morning, holding up those intent upon getting to work, the Braker wants to see everything, inspect each house, memorize each tree, observe each passerby — and therefore brakes intermittently at his own discretion.

2—The Cruiser This driver is typically between 16 and 18 years old and has etched a path between all the fast food restaurants and parking lots in town. Nearly always accompanied by companions, the Cruiser plays the car radio at a dangerous decibel level and usually sings along. This type is prone to "peeling out" and driving in circles around telephone poles. Yelling out the window is a Cruiser prerequisite.

NANCY WEIL

3—The Parking Lot Bomber, aka the P.L.B., there is no such thing as a right-of-way in a parking lot, except of course, his own. Speed limits also are non-existent in parking lots, as are stop signs and one-way arrows.

4—The Red Light Blower — The RLB obviously cannot distinguish between red, yellow and green. This is the driver who cruises through the red light, just as others start to pull out. The RLB is oblivious to honking horns and disgusted looks. He has no fear. The RLB specializes in crowded intersections.

5—The Bumper Jammer — Also known as the "tailgater," the Bumper Jammer has a strange desire to scare the driver in front of him. Possessing little respect for brake lights, the bumper jammer stops within centimeters of the car in front and then smiles and waves if the other driver turns around. The jammer also ignores the fact that there still are stick shift cars which tend to drift backwards from a stop sign or light when starting uphill.

While the bumper jammer, these are the most common. Beware the streets of Granite City!

Car overturns on Highway 3

Gregory A. Huniak, 24, of 4136 Rode Ave., escaped serious injury when his auto overturned on Illinois Route 3, 500 feet north of Niedringhaus Avenue at 11:45 a.m. Thursday. He was charged with reckless driving.

Witnesses said the car turned from Niedringhaus to go north on the highway and began to slide sideways when power brakes were applied. There were 250 feet of tire skid marks.

The auto slid eastward onto the shoulder of the road and then veered westward, crossing all three northbound lanes. When the vehicle collided with a median divider, it flipped onto its right side. A tow truck removed the auto. An ambulance was dispatched but the motorist was said to have declined immediate treatment for cuts and bruises.

Opening of Venice underpass delayed

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice underpass on Broadway, leading to the McKinley Bridge and Illinois Route 3, probably will remain closed until after Thanksgiving Day or maybe until the first of next year, Venice City Council members were dismayed to learn at their meeting last week.

Even temporary repairs to the subway which is essential to the community's main arterial thoroughfare—Broadway—will take at least through late November to complete, according to the latest information received by Venice Superintendent of Streets Tom Scaturro.

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) is responsible for the extensive repair project to correct conditions at the underpass, beneath which the drainage system collapsed, along with the pavement, on July 10.

Concern was expressed by Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols and several aldermen about extended use of Klein Street, now designated a state detour route.

"I think we'd better look into what arrangements can be made about Klein Street," Mayor Echols said. "Those big trucks are just murdering Klein," he added.

"The state has agreed to repair potholes and ruts on Bissell, but I don't know about Klein," Scaturro said. Second Ward Alderman George Mangiaracino reported complaints about large overloaded trucks using Klein. "They are really shaking some of the houses," he said.

"They even shake this building (city hall) too," the mayor commented. "We have no jurisdiction now over the traffic," Scaturro advised, explaining "They (IDOT) have taken the load limits signs down on Klein."

Fourth Ward Alderman John Ervin said, "I believe the street superintendent should ask for a meeting with the state highway department to see what can be done. I heard they (IDOT) are set up down here but can't get the material to repair the underpass."

"I think at first that was true, but now they say they can get the material," Board Attorney Lawrence Hartman advised.

Prior to the emergency closing of the underpass, the state highway department was slated to begin scheduled repairs to the subway in late August.

An alternate traffic route was assigned by the state, leading to and from Illinois Route 3 over Bissell Street in Madison's jurisdiction and Klein Street in Venice.

Before the proposed state detour went into effect, the City of Madison was scheduled to resurface Bissell. However, the alternate route linking Broadway to Route 3 and avoiding the underpass already was pressed into service due to the emergency closing of the underpass and the resurfacing project was not able to get underway.

At the last meeting, the council adopted a supplemental resolution to a June 1 agreement with Madison and the State of Illinois, modifying the original resurfacing contract as the stated completion date (prior to Aug. 1) was unable to be met due to traffic conditions.

The new agreement calls for resurfacing of the thoroughfare to take place "as soon as weather permits and after discontinuance of the detour."

Venice detour causes student-traffic hazard

Lack of patrol guards to aid younger schoolchildren near the intersection of Klein and Bissell streets, where heavy traffic is utilizing the state detour route, is causing problems for youngsters crossing at the intersection, Third Ward Alderman Charles Haynes reported at last week's meeting of the Venice City Council.

Hazardous conditions for pedestrians near the Bissell Apartments have further deteriorated since school started, the alderman said. He asked if a police officer could check the area in the morning hours and Venice Police Chief Farris Smith replied, "We'll do the best we can."

The police chief also reported to the council that 90 arrests were made by his department during July. The total included 80 adults, 63 men and 17 women, cited in 96 charges, and 10 juveniles, all male.

Most of the adult charges concerned city ordinance violations (38) and state traffic violations (25).

Fifteen were charged with violating state ordinances and seven were cited for city traffic offenses. Six were arrested for other department warrants, three were booked on warrants and one arrested involved a disturbed person, Chief Smith's report stated.

In other action, a request by First Ward Alderman Phillip Daniels for installation of an alley light at the rear of 205 Hampton St., was approved, and Second Ward Alderman George Mangiaracino asked the Venice Street Department to fill in a large pothole at Third Street and Broadway.

To reduce utility costs in the city hall, Mayor Tyrone Echols suggested looking into the feasibility and cost of installing a dropped ceiling in the building's first floor, where ceilings are very high.

In a humorous comment, the mayor announced the city auditor's report, stating "The audit has assumed me that none of us are going to the penitentiary this year...all the books are in order."

He also reported not yet having contacted the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD), concerning the Venice aldermen's disapproval of community development funding allocations, but said he is planning to meet with Cheryl Jouett, Madison County Community Development director.

"I'd like to hear her side of the story. Although, she is not the one to make the decisions (on allocations), she may be able to shed some light on things and answer some of the questions we have," the mayor stated.

The Venice aldermen unanimously voted July 10 to ask HUD to investigate the methods used in allocating community development funds to Madison County communities.

3 students earn honor listing

The Society of Distinguished Americans High School Students has announced that three students from St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ have been selected as members for 1982.

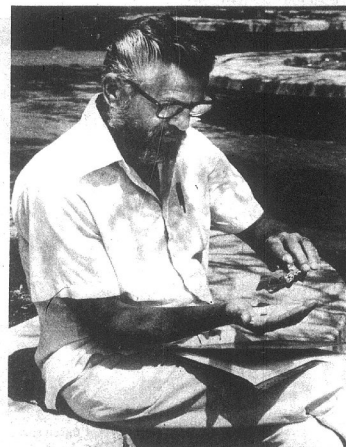

Membership is not only an honor but also an incentive for those exhibiting top performance while in high school. To be accepted, students must have excelled in academics, extracurricular, or civic activities and be nominated by a local sponsor.

Students awarded this honor include: Miss Stephanie Schank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schank, Miss Dawn Roth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roth, and Greg Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mason.

The students' sponsor, the Rev. James Robert Brown, has been presented a National Appreciation Award from the society for "the steadfast dedication and untiring contributions made on behalf of the students."

The society is unique in that it combines the honor of membership with its National Awards Program which earmarks college scholarships for society members. This scholarship program, now in its 14th year, is funded by 104 American colleges. The society preserves the students' honor by listing their biographical accomplishments in an annual membership registry, which is distributed nationally.

Lawsuit smacks of politics

We are not sure how much is politics and how much is legitimate in the attorney general's lawsuit against Madison County, but one thing is for sure, not everyone is being treated equally.

Attorney General Ty Fahner is suing Madison County officials for putting more than one prisoner in a cell in the overcrowded Madison County Jail, a practice which Sheriff Emil Toffant said has been unavoidable at times, since the jail's population frequently exceeds the number of prisoners for which it was designed.

All well and good, except that state prisons also double bunk in times of overcrowding, contrary to Illinois Department of Corrections regulations.

Could it be that the Republican attorney general finds it easier to crack down on the heavily Democratic Madison County Board and sheriff than to enforce the rules in the state prisons, which are supervised primarily by Republicans?

Facts are facts. When there are more prisoners than the jail can hold, it is more humane to double bunk than tying the excess prisoners to a stake in front of the jail until a one-man cell is available.

It makes more sense to double bunk than to turn excess prisoners free to possibly repeat their crimes. Society will not put up with that.

Madison County has made every effort to comply with the rules. Recently, the county tried a "blitz docket," to attempt to dispose of as many cases as possible and free prisoners deserving probation while sending those deserving imprisonment directly to the state institutions.

Such rush tactics may take some pressure off the county jail, but justice should not be rushed. It is too important.

We feel Fahner and Michael Lane, director of the state's Department of Corrections, should be realistic. Madison County has made every effort to comply with the state's one-man, one-cell mandate, but there are just too many criminals. Short of building a larger jail or releasing criminals early, there is just no easy answer and a Republican court challenge against the Democrats in the county won't change that.

Anti-drug funding is welcome

Drug dealers know that the local police cannot adequately enforce marijuana and drug laws locally, so they do not fear the police. Only undercover officers from outside of the area can be successful in infiltrating drug selling groups and making meaningful arrests.

That is why it is such good news to the Quad-City area and the state that legislation providing nearly $5 million in funding for the Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) units in the state has been signed by Governor James Thompson.

And the source for the funding is unique. The new Narcotics Profit Forfeiture Act calls for the profits of drug transactions to be turned over to the state and used to finance anti-narcotic efforts.

Our initial reaction is to question how prosecutors and the courts will determine what possessions of a drug defendant were obtained through unlawful drug sales and what possessions were obtained through hard, legal work, but apparently that can be resolved. Florida obtained $2 million through the program in the first year and Arizona gained $4 million in a year.

What better way to finance anti-drug efforts than through profits of the drug dealers. We are confident our courts and attorneys will do their best to be sure that the law is fairly applied to convicted drug dealers. Meanwhile, 25 percent of the money will go directly to MEG groups, including the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwest Illinois (MEGSI), 25 percent will go to the state's attorneys who prosecute drug violations and 50 percent will go to the local governments whose officers or employees conducted each specific case.

The first $1.46 million, after expenses, will be used to reimburse the General Revenue Fund for the cost of MEG funding, but anything in excess of that will flow directly to where it is most needed, the men and women who risk everything, literally, to fight drug abuse and sales in Illinois.

For a while, things did not look good for the future of MEGSI as this new law breathes new life into the undercover drug unit. We need these agents and our children need them.

Schools will bite the bullet

Some school boards halt music, art, interscholastic sports and other popular programs as a way of pressuring taxpayers to approve added funds.

Granite City board members never have gone that route. They may have to curtail some popular instructional and extracurricular activities, but it won't be to create pressure, since they see little chance of a favorable tax rate vote by citizens, and probably won't propose a referendum.

If cutbacks occur now, or at the end of the present school year in June 1983, it will be because the various programs involve expenditures and the district doesn't have the money to pay for them.

It has authorized its full $5,987,000 legal borrowing against the current tax levies and is considering up to $1,700,000 in second-year tax anticipation warrants for a grand total of $7,687,000 "in the red."

Closing of schools and scheduling of bigger class sizes also are likely to be explored as ways of reducing costs, including teachers' salaries. Administrators estimate that 87 percent of school costs relate to salaries and related benefits.

Well aware of the public's displeasure when school buildings are shut down—as was demonstrated when the Washington, Stallings and McKinley neighborhood schools were closed several years ago—board members also realize there would be turmoil if they failed to take major steps to curb their income-outgo imbalance.

School planners and decision-makers are embarking on an "agonizing reappraisal" of nearly everything that involves the spending of tax dollars—and cents. It could be a painful experience for them and their community, but it seems unavoidable.

Drug abuse has become a major problem in the Quad-City area and those who are not convinced of that need only talk to a high school teacher or counselor.

High school students say there are two groups in the high schools, those that take drugs and those that don't, and the percentage of those who do grows each year.

Many students know one or more drug "freaks," who have destroyed portion of their brains with "acid" or pills. Observers who have watched some students sway into high schools in the mornings after smoking marijuana speculate that those who will learn little, or anything during that day in school.

MEGSI is probably the most important element in the war against marijuana and drugs here and deserves our support.

Members of the Press-Record editorial staff surveyed persons in the Quad-City area asking if they feel the recent uptick in national and international events such as peace in Lebanon, falling interest rates, the soaring stock market and the passing of President Reagan's tax bill are indicators of brighter economic times ahead. Their reactions follow.

Ed Kirby, Granite City

"It's encouraging to see the rates coming down — so people can buy homes again. It's gonna take some time, though, for the whole thing to take effect. As far as things in the mideast go, I'm glad for them."

Jeannie Brown, Granite City

"No, I don't think so. I'm afraid things are going to get much worse. If you read the Bible, things are predictable. Things are only going to get worse until Christ comes again."

Norbert Tate, Granite City

"I think it's a slight turn around for the economy — good news. I think things will get better on the national scene sooner than they will on the local scene, especially with American Steel announcing its closing. As far as things go in the Middle East, I think it's good that the Arabs have agreed to align themselves."

Terry Lindsay, Granite City

"It's hard to say. I do know that if things don't get better soon we could be headed for another depression. Part of the problem is the depressed auto industry. Unless things get better there, things will get worse."

Balanced budget bill a 'prescription for economic disaster?'

To the Editor:

The Senate shamefully moved the balanced budget constitutional amendment a crucial step closer to adoption. The buck has been passed to the House.

For the good of the country, for the Constitution to remain a charter of democratic government and not a hedge-podge of special interest restrictions, it must not go further.

The proposed amendment is a prescription for economic disaster. Honest conservatives as well as liberals have voiced their abhorrence.

If members of the House vote their honest convictions, there is no way it can muster a two-thirds vote to get it through Congress or even the simple majority required to bypass the Judiciary Committee to bring it to the House floor.

There can be no excuse for a vote that would be so destructive of American government and leave the nation so defenseless against unemployment at home and saber-rattling abroad!

1.—Under this proposal, the budget would have to be balanced primarily through spending reductions, rather than by tax increases.

2.—The Constitution is not a place for making fiscal policy. Economic problems should be dealt with in a more appropriate forum — the normal legislative process.

3.—By tying spending to the previous year's economy, the existing economic trends would be reinforced, creating boom or bust cycles. There would be limited flexibility in taxing and spending in order to make timely choices.

4.—There is no guarantee that the budget actually can be balanced. Estimates of revenues and expenditures are inexact, at best. Moreover, there is no way to ensure that actual outlays will not exceed these set in the budget resolution without end-of-the-year program slashing.

5.—Congress would be stripped of some of its authority. A three-fifths majority would be required to allow deficit spending in any year. This is contrary to the American tradition of simple majority rule.

6.—A balanced budget amendment is not likely to make the budget process more responsive or more democratic. It could instead inhibit the government in its efforts to stabilize the economy. Perhaps a revision of the legislative budget process is a more appropriate means to handle the current budget mess.

Cutting benefits to elderly and those on low and fixed income by means of this proposal is not the way to balance the budget.

Mother glad that a good doctor was released by kidnappers

To the Editor:

The outrageous, horrible ordeal suffered by the Zevallos family recently reminded us all of the sick society we are living in today.

I feel I must speak out about this caring and loyal doctor we have in our midst and the happiness he has brought to our family and, I know, to many others.

We've been blessed with many grandchildren — most of whom were looked after by Dr. Zevallos and his well-trained staff during the pregnancies of our daughters and daughters-in-law.

But most of all, one of our daughters had lost her first and second child (a girl and a boy) during about the sixth month of her pregnancies. Janet felt she couldn't go thru the loss of another child, even though her physician, at that time, simply told her unfeelingly to "keep trying."

I urged her to seek the help of Dr. Zevallos. He knew immediately what her problem was and performed the necessary surgery three times during her three next pregnancies allowing her to carry full term the three healthy, beautiful children she is so proud of today.

Needless to say, the children she lost was an unnecessary tragedy that would not have happened if she had only been in the competent care of Dr. Zevallos.

Thank you God for bringing this fine man and doctor and his wife back to us alive and well.

Universal language may aid communications

To the Editor:

Esperanto, the universal language, should be taught to sixth and seventh grade students in the United States. This is my firm conclusion after hearing a discussion about this constructed language at a Senior Citizens Dialogue session at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Esperanto is used by 10 million "Esperantists" in countries around the world on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Esperanto is simple, logical and relatively easy to learn. It is easy to spell and to pronounce. In one hour, I learned to count to 10, the days of the week, months, seasons, and a number of short phrases and sentences. Many Esperanto words are quite similar to English words and to well-known French, Spanish or German words used in every day language.

Using Esperanto, persons in this country can communicate with French, German, Spanish, Chinese, Japanese, Russian and persons in many additional countries who use Esperanto.

If young people were taught Esperanto in Junior High school, they would be able to communicate readily with their peers when they, in later life, occupied positions in government, industry, etc. Thus government officials in Russia and the United States, for example, could talk directly with each other without using interpreters.

If Esperanto were commonly used in the United Nations, interpreters would not be needed and better communication would result.

Improved communications among world leaders could improve international relations and might prevent wars. After all, the earth keeps getting smaller as transportation becomes faster.

Proceeds from debenture

Job growth is the goal of the new Southwestern Illinois Business Development Finance Corporation (BDFC), which has just received its certificate of incorporation from the Illinois secretary of state.

Organized to help small businesses obtain financing for start-ups and expansions that will create new jobs in the Southwestern Illinois region, the corporation is composed of members from throughout the seven-county area it serves.

Funds for administering and capitalizing the corporation will come from combinations of the region's banks, private citizens, local government and federal and state grants.

Preliminary data collected as a part of a feasibility study conducted by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission indicate that the corporation, through assistance to existing small manufacturers and producers in the region, create more than 500 new jobs.

Brooks Addition residents asked to respond to letter

Resident of the Brooks Addition in Chouteau Township about received a letter from Chouteau Township Officials concerning a federal grant to help with drainage problems, according to Supervisor Walter Sparks, who wants them to react to the letter.

"We mailed 130 letters to Brooks residents and ask that you fill out the enclosed form and mail it to the Madison County Community Development at once," Sparks said.

As of Aug. 23, only 54 forms had been sent to the county, which is not enough for the county to declare the subdivision eligible for a grant.

Earth legacy film to be aired

Apollo 8 astronaut James Lovell recalls watching the earth rise from behind the moon. "What I realized at that moment was that the earth is the only home we have and that we all must learn to work together to protect it so as to preserve a legacy for future generations."

Lovell's introduction sets the tone for Legacy For A Small Planet, a one-hour report on the work of the World Heritage Convention airing Thursday, Sept. 2 at 7 p.m. on KETC-Channel 9.

In 1972, the United Nations Educational and Scientific Organizations (UNESCO) responded to growing threats to the world's natural and cultural heritage from spiraling population, urban sprawl and environmental hazards. It established the World Heritage Convention to identify and preserve unique sites for future generations.

In Legacy For A Small Planet, producer and host William H. Eddy Jr., a teacher and environmental consultant, outlines the origins of the World Heritage Convention, covers an annual meeting and visits some unusual sites on the list of protected properties. Sixty-five nations of the world have ratified an agreement to protect a growing list of over 100 properties. The United States, the first country to sign the agreement, has six of them, including Yellowstone National Park, Grand Canyon National Park and Independence Hall. Also on the list are such places as the Great Pyramid of Cheops (the last surviving treasure of the original Seven Wonders of the World), the Galapagos Islands, the ancient city of Carthage and such singular spots as the Thracian Tomb of Kazanlik in Bulgaria.

News notes

The "budget busting" $14.2 billion spending bill vetoed Saturday by Pres. Ronald Reagan includes $40 million for rail relocation and renovation in Madison and St. Clair counties.

The circuit court and the animal control department are in financial trouble, and several other departments of the Madison County government may exhaust their funds before the fiscal year ends Nov. 30. County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fild says that some are "spending money just as if they still had it to spend, when they don't."

Rockford unemployment remained 19.3 percent in July, making it likely to "repeat as the area with the highest jobless rate in the nation. Modesto, Calif., and Flint, Mich., are close rivals for the dubious distinction.

Bi-State park-ride bus routes are starting today from the Edwardsville-Glen Carbon area to downtown St. Louis. Glen Carbon stops will be Cottonwood and the old water tower on Main Street. The Bi-State board on Friday tabled installation of new bus passenger shelters to permit time to seek less expensive money than those bought previously.

St. Louis County Executive Gene McNary has dropped an effort to cut the county's subsidy to the Bi-State Development Agency even though the agency is planning to build a new runway at Parks Airport, Cahokia. The agency agreed to borrow the money rather than take it from a restricted fund that McNary says is derived from Missouri sales tax receipts and should not be spent in Illinois.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic governor nominee, has set a minimum driving age raised from 16 to 17. His first debate with Gov. James Thompson, Republican, is scheduled for Nov. 2 election issues is set for this evening in Peoria.

ALLEGES MADISON MAN HAS WEAPON. Blake E. Zavallos, 625 Madison Ave., Madison, was arrested at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue at 12:15 a.m. Saturday and charged with unlawful use of a weapon and not having a Firearm Owner's Identification (FID) card.

Investigating a report of a man with a gun, officers saw Knox standing near a motorcycle and noted a badge inside his jacket. A .357-magnum weapon with six live rounds of ammunition was confiscated.

The trio tried persuasion, reading from "epistles" of the kind that had been left for authorities. "Mar's" institutions have become instruments of evil and are working to deprive man of life, liberty and property in defiance of God's will," one portion related.

When Dr. Zavallos declined to make a public statement opposing abortions, the kidnappers resorted to threats, Newsweek reported. He asked why his wife was being treated so harshly than earlier in the week and one of the captors said he had "stayed" nearly crying, trying to decide how to kill you.

The doctor ultimately promised he would renounce abortion, although he has not yet done so, the magazine said. Newsweek's reporting was said to be still urging him to comply with the kidnappers' demand.

Names of Zavallos and another doctor have been removed from the door of the local clinic. The captors were pictured by the magazine as talking openly during the eight-day kidnapping about anti-abortion activists.

The clinic in Granite City has been picked at various times by abortion foes and was the scene of a fire in January, thought to have been arson. Investigators stress that right-to-life activists are not suspects in the abduction.

Leaders of the anti-abortion movement assail the kidnappers' tactics as a breach of their commitment to nonviolence, and one activist has suggested that some events may have been staged to discredit the pro-life movement. Friends and neighbors reply there is no doubt at all that the couple underwent a difficult week and was held against their wishes.

A man who said he was Dr. Zavallos telephoned authorities during the kidnapping to say that "the Army of God" had captured them and had left instructions for their safe release taped to the chimney of a public restroom building in Forest Park, St. Louis.

An envelope was found there containing rambling "epistles" demanding that President Ronald Reagan publicly denounce abortion. He has done so many times in the past but declined to repeat it during the kidnapping.

The message found in the park is said to have been 44 pages long. It attacked government involvement in a rambling and sometimes incoherent manner, according to those who have seen it.

The Zavalloses overheard their captors talking about anti-abortion activities in Florida, Newsweek said in its Aug. 30 issue. An FBI spokesman reports the Army of God is believed to have been involved in arson attacks on two Florida clinics in May, which may have been mentioned in the epistles, sources indicate.

After separate fires caused $115,000 in damage at St. Peter's Hospital and Clearwater, the Army of God claimed responsibility in a letter left at a St. Petersburg television station.

FBI Special Agent Glenn Young said the Florida letter apparently was typed on the same typewriter as the "epistles" found in St. Louis.

Agents currently are trying to locate copies of anti-abortion material mailed to some Illinois legislators by "the Archangel Gabriel."

The U.S. Senate will resume debate after its Labor Day recess on a bill by Sen. Jesse Helms to limit federal funds for abortions and to expedite a

Tomorrow is the final day to pay local tax collectors

Tomorrow is the final day for area residents to pay their taxes to township tax collectors. It is not, however, the deadline for paying the second installment of property tax bills.

Township tax collectors contend that they can distribute the money faster to taxing bodies than the county treasurer, thus reducing borrowing by the tax bodies and saving money. Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus, whose office is the only one authorized to accept tax payments Sept. 1 and thereafter, disagrees, saying tax money received by his office is distributed weekly to the taxing bodies.

However, for those who prefer to pay the local tax collectors, area offices will remain open through the end of business day tomorrow.

Tax collection for Venice Township is taking at Tax Collector Zella Niehues' office, 422 Madison Ave., Madison.

The Venice tax collector accepts payments from Madison, Venice and Venice Township residents. The collector's office will take payments from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Granite City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, who also serves as town collector, accepts tax payments in his office at the city hall, 2000 Edison Ave., from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., both Monday and Tuesday.

Granite City tax bills also may be paid during regular banking hours at the First Granite City National Bank, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, American Heritage Bank of Granite City and Colonial Bank of Granite City.

Namoki Township tax payments may be submitted at the township office, 4250 Highway 162, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Payments also can be made at the five to Quad-City banks listed above.

Chouteau Township residents may pay taxes to Cletus Bellwell, 800 Missouri, South Kansas.

Initial disbursements already have been made to taxing agencies.

A man who said he was Dr. Zavallos telephoned authorities during the kidnapping to say that "the Army of God" had captured them and had left instructions for their safe release taped to the chimney of a public restroom building in Forest Park, St. Louis.

An envelope was found there containing rambling "epistles" demanding that President Ronald Reagan publicly denounce abortion. He has done so many times in the past but declined to repeat it during the kidnapping.

The message found in the park is said to have been 44 pages long. It attacked government involvement in a rambling and sometimes incoherent manner, according to those who have seen it.

The Zavalloses overheard their captors talking about anti-abortion activities in Florida, Newsweek said in its Aug. 30 issue. An FBI spokesman reports the Army of God is believed to have been involved in arson attacks on two Florida clinics in May, which may have been mentioned in the epistles, sources indicate.

Burglars hit Venice schools

An inventory was being taken during the weekend to determine what items are missing from the Venice public schools, where the offices of both the high school and grade school administrators, plus other areas of the school, were entered by burglars, it was reported at 7:10 a.m. Friday.

A storage room, desk and steel cabinet were rifled in the office of Principal John Rush, which was entered by breaking a window. In the office of Assistant Principal Clarence Hand, a desk drawer was opened and a knife was taken.

The intruders removed a board to get into the library and an attempt was made to enter another storage room without success.

Glass was broken in the door to the industrial arts shop and a cabinet containing tools was opened, authorities said.

BURGALARS KICK IN REAR DOOR

After entering the home of Merl Jennings, 1726 State St., by kicking in a rear door, the intruders ransacked the entire house and stole a .38-caliber weapon, it was reported at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Police were first alerted by neighbors who saw the door open and knew no one was at home at that time. An inventory is being compiled to determine what other items are missing.

ALCOHOL CHARGE

Phillip B. Fitzhugh, 25, of 4027 (rear) Old Alton Road, was charged with public consumption of alcohol at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, after an officer alleged seeing him drink from a bottle, then toss it behind a fence when approached at 20th Street and Illinois Avenue. Fitzhugh posted a $50 cash bond and was released.

Logan School acting principal

Nancy D. Marti of Granite City, assistant principal of Coolidge Junior High School, will serve as acting principal of Logan Elementary School for the next few weeks.

The assignment by Supt. B. J. Davis was made last week.

Logan Principal Fred Noth is recuperating from an illness. The school had 530 pupils on the opening day of 1982-83 classes, the largest enrollment among the 13 grade schools.

A former Prather Junior High assistant principal who is an honorably-dismissed Granite City High School South faculty member, L. William Fever, has resigned to accept other employment.

He commented, "I have enjoyed working for the Granite City school district these last seven years but have obtained employment elsewhere. Thank you for allowing me to serve you and the children of Granite City."

But it notes that such appeals usually consume much time and have no legally designated time limit. An injunction decision, affirmative or negative, is expected to be made promptly.

The school district has named the Chicago law firm of Attorney Leo Ather to represent it, and a member of that firm was in court Friday.

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr at Friday's hearing in Edwardsville agreed that a judge from outside the Madison County area should hear the suit.

A judge is expected to be named soon by state court officials in Springfield, since the new school term is in progress and the girl has not been accepted for enrollment. No new hearing date has been set.

All parties acknowledge that the individual became 21 years old prior to the start of the 1982-83 term July 1.

Judge Matosian hopes to have the district enjoined to admit his daughter to classes for the '82-83 year, saying failure to do so would cause her more harm than the order would cause the school system.

School officials are thought to be sympathetic to the request but unwilling to set a precedent that a person over the age of 21 is eligible for basic school district services.

The lawsuit was filed last week in the Third Judicial Circuit.

It says the Matosians sought a due process hearing last spring to request that the girl remain in school for another year.

The suit asserts the district neither forwarded the request to the State Board of Education for appointment of a hearing officer, nor notified the parents that their request had been denied.

Supt. B. J. Davis said today the failure to respond was a form of rejection, and that the district lacked jurisdiction to reply because of the age of the student.

Five hurt on Johnson Road

Five persons were reported injured in a two-car accident on Johnson Road at Carlson Avenue at 9:50 p.m. Friday.

Charged with failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident was David A. Cotton, 17, of 101 Wilson Park Lane, whose auto struck the rear of a vehicle operated by William J. Robbins, 46, of 214 Wilson Park Lane, a report stated.

Robbins' westbound vehicle was halted in a traffic backup at the time of the mishap. He reportedly sustained a minor injury.

Taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were four passengers in Cotton's vehicle:

Dawn M. Cheatham, 16, of 2114 (rear) Lee Ave., who suffered lacerations to her forehead and abrasions to her right elbow. She had X-rays taken and was admitted.

Paula Parker, 14, of 1435 Madison Ave., who was admitted with injuries to her left shoulder and rib area;

Francis E. Everett, 19, of Rural Route One, Box 1266, who had X-rays taken and was admitted for treatment of pains to the back; and Connie Stugard, 15, of 4023 Braden Ave., who also was taken to the hospital by ambulance with injuries.

Neither Cotton nor another passenger in his vehicle, Brian D. Brown, 18, of 210 Wilson Park Lane, were listed as injured.

CHARGE YOUTH ON SOUTH HIGH CAMPUS
John W. Lindsey, 17, of 2243 Delmar Ave., alleged to have been seen by school officials handing a "cannabis" cigarette to a 14-year-old youth in the south area of Granite City High School South campus, was arrested there at 1:35 p.m. Friday.

Lindsey allegedly had $50 bills and two $5 bills in his possession, plus a plastic bag containing approximately seven grams of cannabis hidden inside his trousers.

He was charged with unlawful delivery of cannabis, unlawful possession of cannabis, contributing to the delinquency of a minor and criminal trespass to land. Lindsey was released at 2:50 p.m. Sunday on payment of a $408 cash bond.

The 14-year-old was released without charges.

Smith calls certificates of error 'first class mess'

Marshall "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney, described the alleged issuance of certificates of error to some residents in Madison County Special Sewer Area One "a first class mess," in a letter submitted to the county board's sewer committee.

According to Smith, the practice of awarding the certificates to district residents who could never be served by the county sewer system, is illegal. He stated such certificates may have been issued in the last two to three months.

County sewer users support the district both through residents are expected to pay, while not receiving sanitary sewer services.

"I have heard about six or eight (certificate of error) cases, but there may be as many as one hundred, for all I know," Smith said.

In his letter, Smith suggested the circuit court residents petition the Madison County Circuit to be legally taken out of the sewer district. Smith cited a new state law, recognizing the petitioning process, when the territory "constitutes less than half the total of the tax levy. The certificates are intended to correct the higher tax rates some than 1 1/2 percent of the special service area's total equalized assessed valuation."

According to Smith, the total acreage of the property located south of the limits of the abatement ordinance.

The six areas involved include tracts of land along the Route 3 near A. O. Smith; lots about three miles north of sewer district; and plots located southeast of Granite City across from Northern Park. Also involved are a strip of land north of Pontoon Road extending west to the railroad tracks, and the Knight's Homes subdivision, near Granite City High School North.

Residents being taxed for sewer services they do not receive is the problem that was the concern of the sewer district for the past two years.

$57 million awarded to 47 rail workers

Awards to 47 railroad workers who said they were harmed by the toxic chemical dioxin totaled $57,950,000. The jury trial ended last week at the Madison County Circuit Court.

It was called the longest civil trial ever held in this county.

Thirty-two of the plaintiffs are to receive at least $1 million each, exceeding the total of million-dollar jury verdicts in any of the 50 states last year; New York had 28 million-dollar verdicts in 1981.

A tank car ruptured at Sturgeon, Mo., in January 1979 and the employees decided to sue the Norfolk & Western Railway Co. here, having noted this county's reputation for generous jurors.

The federal employers' liability act allows suits to be filed in any venue in which a railway operates.

The workers participated in cleaning up the chemical spill and claimed their health was injured as a result. They alleged that the railroad failed to warn them the chemical was dangerous.

Awards on the final day of the deliberations went to four Missourians: John Smith, 43, $550,000; Wid Smith, 28, $450,000; Richard Tremblay, 36, $650,000; and Dean Coleman, 31, $600,000.

Dioxin is one of the ingredients of Agent Orange, a defoliant whose use in the Vietnam war has been cited by some war veterans as affecting their health.

Burglars steal jewelry, ransack

Don and Sheila Brown, 2304 Edwards St., arrived home at 2:20 a.m. Saturday to find a rear porch light had been turned off and a door into the house was open.

The family dog had been locked in the basement by the intruders, who had ransacked the living room, a bedroom, kitchen and basement.

Although a complete inventory of stolen items was not immediately available, initially found to be missing were a one-carat diamond necklace, a gold watch, six gold chain-type necklaces, a 12-gauge Mossberg shotgun, a 20-gauge Winchester shotgun, a 35-caliber Marlin lever-action weapon, a .35-caliber rifle and a gold and sapphire ring.

He commented, "From now on, there is no excuse to deny aiding anyone who served in Vietnam combat and who has a cancer compensation for service-connected injury."

He contended that the alleged dioxin concentration in the tank car, about a half-teaspoon in 10,000 gallons, was ten times weaker than that claimed by veterans.

Former railroad workers testified of dizziness, rash, memory loss, impotence, fatigue and breathing difficulty.

Q. This question was recently discussed with friends. It became my duty to find the answer. Since it's basically a money matter, I thought I'd ask you: Is the United States taxpayer saddled with the biggest tax burden of any country in the world?

A. The answer is: No. The heaviest tax load is carried by Swedish taxpayers, who paid 52.9 percent of their total production of goods and services in taxes in 1979, the last year for which complete figures are available. Within the top 20 industrialized nations of the world, the U.S. actually ranked 15th in total tax load according to figures compiled by the Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development. The tax load was 31.3 percent of the total U.S. output of goods and services which was, admittedly, up from 26.6 percent paid in the Great Britain carried a slightly heavier load at 33.8 percent — and is in tenth place. Interestingly, one of our current economic competitors carries a considerably lighter tax load than the U.S. — Japan at 24.1 percent. However, Japan is the only major economic competitor with a lighter tax load.

Nationals edge Corral; capture Inter-City title

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Phil Conreux of the Edwardsville Nationals hit into two double plays and fled out to deep center field in his first three at bats.

Had he been playing in a Edwardsville High School or Lewis and Clark Community College baseball game, he would have been frustrated. However, Conreux was playing in an Inter-City League game—the championship game, and he had an entirely different feeling.

Conreux relaxed and hit an inside-the-park home run in the ninth inning of Edwardsville's 4-1 victory over Corral Liquor at Wilson Park. The home run clinched the Inter-City League championship for the Nationals.

"I'm out here to have a good time on a good team, and this is a great bunch of guys to play with. I just tried to have fun this season. If this was a high school game, I probably would have been frustrated about it."

"There's a lot of fun guys on this team, and we were all out to have a good time. We had a lot of fun this year," Conreux, the Edwardsville catcher said.

Conreux's home run wasn't the most graceful hit. Conreux popped the ball over right fielder Jeff Tretter who was playing shallow, and it bounced away from Tretter.

Tretter fielded the ball before Conreux scored, threw to second baseman Jeff Stamper, and had a chance to get Conreux. Stamper's throw to home was wide, and Conreux easily scored.

"I had a little incentive to hit a home run. My grandmother lives about two blocks from this field, and I wanted to hit this for her. She fed me breakfast today, and I guess that helped," Conreux said.

Conreux's hit insured Edwardsville's victory, but there were other factors involved.

A moderately strong wind held up hard hit balls for both teams. Both Corral and Edwardsville hit ball which would have gone for extra-base hits. Corral was hurt worse than Edwardsville.

Inter-City League

"The ball just had eyes," Corral manager Ken Crawford said. "The ball held up ball that could have been home runs in a fenced field."

Corral hit nine pop flies to the outfield in the game.

Another major factor was two base running mistakes by the Cowboys. In the sixth inning, Warren Buster hit a single and moved to second on a sacrifice. Buster tried to steal third, but Conreux, who threw the ball back to pitcher Jim Scheible, warned Scheible to throw to third.

Third baseman Dave Krause tagged out Buster.

"He just went on his own," Crawford said. "He said he didn't know why he ran, I guess it was just an impulse."

The other mistake occurred in the seventh. Tretter hit a single but was thrown out at second when Dave Hagenbrock missed the hit-and-run sign and was standing with one foot in the batter's box without calling time out.

Edwardsville out-hit Corral 7-6, but Corral couldn't put his together for runs. Edwardsville did.

Tretter scored Corral's only run in the fifth inning after reaching on an infield hit. Tretter went to third on two infield outs and scored on Doug Rains' single. However, the inning ended when Rains was picked off at first.

Edwardsville took the lead for good when Dave Krause hit a single, stole second and scored on John Wood's single. Wood also stole second and scored on Bruce Pfiffer's single.

Both Corral and Edwardsville had excellent defensive game. During the first four innings, both Rains, Corral's pitcher, and Scheible threw no-hitters. Corral played errorless ball, and Edwardsville made one error, a dropped third strike by Conreux in the ninth which allowed the potential tying run to reach the plate.

"Scheible was pitching kind of flat," Conreux said. "He was hitting the corners real good. I've caught him since I was in Little League, and if no one makes errors behind him, we win. Sometimes, Scheible's too good because the fielder fall asleep out there, and they make a couple of errors to start a rally and we lose," Conreux said.

Crawford also praised Rains' pitching. "He pitched a pretty good game other than the sixth and ninth innings. He had good control, but Scheible pitched another good game too."

Highland edges Steeler, Warrior golf teams Friday

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

There's definitely some advantage playing on a familiar golf course. The Highland High School golf team proved that Friday without question as they defeated both Granite City High Schools as the local squads competed in their first competition of the season.

The Highland Bulldogs finished 20 strokes (185) under second place Granite City High School North with 175, while Granite City South finished seven strokes behind the Steelers with a team score of 182.

One reason for Highland's success was two of its golfers, Devin Wille and Roger Young each shot par on the 36 par golf course.

"Highland's got some excellent kids in Wille and Young," said Russ Chappell, North's golf coach. "I think they're probably one of the best teams around. For that reason, it's difficult to compare us to them. Instead I like to compare our kids with those of South."

Overall, Chappell said he was pleased with the way his young team played. He expects too, that his team has not yet peaked and in time should exhibit some fine golfing.

South's coach Dwayne "Boone" Chasey said he too was encouraged with the performance of South's club men.

"We've got some fairly young kids," Chasey said. "We don't very often get to play on that tough of course. I think we'll do better when we play them at home."

Granite South Warriors

CHIP SHOT. Kevin Schatz of Granite City High School North landed on the green with this chipper Friday during North's golf competition against South and Highland. Highland finished nine holes, is hilly and often even the greens are slanted.

In high school golf competition, each team fields a total of eight golfers. Only half, however, of these golfers' scores are figured in with their team score. The other four, usually underclassmen, practice, trying to improve their game, as they vie for one of the "starting positions."

Friday, the starting four for the Steelers were Bill Early, David Goff, Frank Hayes and Kevin Schatz.

Those representing the Warriors were John Tackett, Randy Thurman, Ken Rapp and Greg Pare.

Tuesday, the Granite City teams will get the chance to avenge the Highland victory as both Granite schools host the Bulldogs at Arlington Golf Course.

White to coach in Japan Bowl

University of Illinois Head Football Coach Mike White has accepted an invitation to coach in the Eighth Annual Japan Bowl All-Star Game on Jan. 16, 1983, in Yokohama, Japan.

"I'm extremely excited and honored that I've been asked," said White. "The Japan Bowl has always had special meaning to me. It is truly one of the class bowl games around."

White was instrumental in developing the Japan Bowl, serving as a coach in its first two games and as game director in 1977. The Bowl later was named in honor of Joe Roth, a quarterback under White at the University of California, who died of cancer.

White is undefeated as a coach in college all-star games.

Quincy KO's Steeler kickers 5-1 in season debut

QUINCY — Granite City North's soccer team has had so few humiliating defeats that Steeler coach Bob Kehoe can remember all of them.

North's 5-1 loss to Quincy (Sr.) Saturday will be one of those Kehoe remembers. In the 10-year history of the Steeler soccer team, North has suffered only two more humiliating defeats.

In 1978, the Steelers lost 7-0 to Missouri champion Vannoy (St. Louis) and a year later, they lost 7-1 to Missouri powerhouse Hazelwood Central.

"It's the worst any Illinois team has defeated us, and it's the first time any Illinois team has scored five goals on us," Kehoe said. "It was a rude awakening for us, and it was a long bus ride home."

"There's no excuses, no alibis. We just plain flat out got beat," Kehoe said. Quincy, which appears to be one of the top soccer teams in downstate Illinois this season, outplayed the Steelers in the season opener for both teams.

"It was a baptism of fire for our younger kids. It was our first game so I think we were a little nervous."

Bob Kehoe
Steeler soccer coach

Quincy's defense stopped most of North's drives and kept the Steelers in the backfield much of the game. North's inexperienced backfield was forced to play farther back than usual to protect the goal.

"I don't mean to put all the blame on the backfield because Quincy is a strong team. We had to play back, so when we got the ball, we had a longer way to go," Kehoe said.

In addition, all-state defenseman Steve Tritschuh suffered an ankle injury with five minutes left in the second quarter and missed the rest of the game.

Kehoe is uncertain whether Tritschuh will play Tuesday or Wednesday because of the injury. "He has to show me he can play. I would rather have him out for two or three games than risk a more serious injury and have him miss eight or nine games," he said.

Quincy led 2-0 at halftime on goals by forward Jim Sandercock and Ron Sutherland, but North came back in the third quarter with its only goal, an unassisted shot by Brian Levin.

Later in the third quarter, the Steelers threatened to tie the game when Levin had a free kick. However, the goalie, who also happens to be named Jim Sandercock, made an outstanding save on the shot.

"That may have been the straw that broke the camel's back," Kehoe said.

Doug Bruner scored for Quincy with 12:41 left in the third quarter, increasing the lead to 3-1, and Scott Wheelock and Sandercock, the forward, scored in the fourth quarter.

"They were going after the ball a lot more aggressively than we were," Kehoe said. "They were still going strong in the fourth quarter while we were starting to get tired."

"It was a baptism of fire for our younger kids. It was our first game so we were a little nervous, but I did think we would have more offense than what we did. We couldn't get anything going."

Quincy committed 27 fouls as opposed to North's 12 fouls, but Kehoe said Quincy's fouls were aggressive fouls. "Maybe the experience was invaluable for our younger players," Kehoe said.

North opens play in the Gateway East Conference Tuesday with a 4 p.m. game at Edwardsville. The Steelers travel to Cahokia Wednesday at 4 p.m. in another Gateway East game.

"I think Quincy is a very good team, but Edwardsville, Cahokia, and South are going to be good teams too. God, I hope they're not as tough as Quincy was Saturday," Kehoe said.

Useful fishing information

Determining fish age and other helpful hints

How fast do fish grow? What is the age of a six-pound largemouth bass? How can the age of fish be determined?

These questions are just a few that are asked by many fishermen in Illinois.

How fast a fish grows depends upon several factors. These include food, space, length of growing season, competition from other species of fish and the nature of the particular fish.

The most important factor affecting fish growth is food. Abundance and availability of food is in turn, affected by water clarity. Muddy water makes fish-food unavailable to game species that feed primarily by sight. Muddy water also prevents the production of fish-food because sunlight cannot penetrate the water to permit growth of microscopic plants (algae) which are the basic link in the complex fish-food chain.

In contrast, clear water facilitates aquatic plant growth and increases vulnerability to prey to sight feeding predators.

Another factor affecting the growth of fish is space.

Fish that are crowded will not grow. They can be compared to plants in this respect; if carrot seed is sown thickly in a garden, the seed is not thinned out when the plants come up, the carrots will not grow but will remain small and undesirable for use. By thinning the plants, the carrots will grow to a larger size. Similarly, the fewer the fish in a lake, the more they will be their own space.

Most waters are limited in the amount of food they can produce, but, if fish sometimes reproduce in such great numbers that there is not enough food to go around, some waters contain large amounts of bass.

A new fact influencing the growth rates of fish in Illinois are cooling lakes. These large, man-made predator fish cannot thin out the small size fish, with overpopulation and stunting usually resulting.

If there are several species of fish, the lake eating the same type of food, such as bluegills and bluegill, chances are that only one species will grow best. Perhaps none will grow, due to the competition for the available food.

Most of the warm water fish (bass, bluegill, channel catfish, etc.) are short lived, the average life span varying from species to species. White bass grow extremely fast, if conditions are right, but usually do not live longer than 3 to 4 years. Other fish, such as the buffalo, grow at a slower rate, but live much longer. Most fish will grow throughout their life if there is sufficient food and space available.

Fish are cold blooded animals in that their blood is the same temperature as the water in which they live. When the water becomes cold, the fish become sluggish and are not as active as when the water is warm.

Food that fish eat during the cold winter months may stay in their stomachs several weeks before it is digested. During warm weather months, fish are more active and need more food. It is during this time that fish will put on growth. The growing season for fish is the same as plants, and for most of Illinois that averages about six months a year. In southern Illinois the growing season is approximately seven months and in northern Illinois it is about five months. For this reason larger size fish usually are found in southern Illinois.

A new fact influencing the growth rates of fish in Illinois are cooling lakes. These large, man-made reservoirs dissipate heat from the condensing cooling water systems of both nuclear and fossil power plants. As a result of this, the population throughout the year, fish remain active as the growing season is artificially extended. Fish population surveys conducted on heated reservoirs located in northern Illinois, indicate that growth rates may be two or three times the average.

Since fish do not grow, or grow very little during the winter months, this dormancy causes scale margins to be formed very slowly. These compressed scale margins form an annulus (growth ring), similar to the annual rings on tree trunks and limbs.

A fish scale magnified to a large size will easily show the year marks (annuli). By counting the number of these year marks or annuli, the age of the fish can be determined. Biologists usually read these year marks on a special age projection machine, which enlarges the fish scale many times. The age of fish that do not have scales, such as catfish, can be determined by taking one of their fin spines or vertebrae, making a thin slice of the bone and placing it under a microscope where the year marks can easily be seen and counted.

Since water temperatures are elevated throughout the year in heated reservoirs, growth is maintained. As a result, a truly accurate scale annulus is not always formed. In order to accurately determine the age of heated reservoirs, the otolith (earstone) is utilized. Once the otolith has been removed, it must be ground and polished to highlight the growth rings. These rings may then be counted to accurately age the fish.

Over a period of years, Conserva Fishery has collected thousands of fish scale samples. The results of these samples are illustrated in several charts showing the average growth rate of fish collected. In the bluegill and largemouth bass charts, generally the growth rate is faster for southern Illinois due to longer growing season.

Note that the charts are based on the length of the fish. To determine the age of a six pound bass, compare its total length (from tip of the nose to the end of the tail) with the chart, assuming of course, that the growth of the bass is average. The charts are suitable guides for estimating the age of a fish. To accurately determine the age, scales or otolith must be utilized.

Fish that are growing fast usually are caught more easily by the fishermen and, of course, they are much larger and more desirable for sport and eating.

SIUE women kickers go intercollegiate

When the words "new" and "soccer" are spoken in the same sentence at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, it may generate a few raised eyebrows or at least a couple of questions. After all, isn't SIUE the school that won the NCAA Division II national championship in 1972 and reached soccer supremacy in Division I during the 1979 campaign? And doesn't SIUE feature the team that has received a bid to the national tournament each of the past 13 years?

All that may be true, but in 1982 the talk of SIUE soccer fans may be the debut of the first-ever women's intercollegiate soccer team. After a year as an experimental club team, the women's intercollegiate athletic lineup will also include soccer.

Head Coach Lori Stark, who last year led the club team to a 6-2 record, will be at the helm Sept. 11 when a team of 11 freshmen, three sophomores, four juniors and three seniors make their debut in the opening round of the Lindenwood College Invitational Tournament in St. Charles, Mo.

With what is expected to be a battle for each starting position, Coach Stark opened the pre-season drills in mid-August with eight returning players from last year's club team among the 22 players bidding for starting berths.

Last year's leading scorer, Jennifer Boyer of Granite City, joins newcomers Helen Robinson of Florissant, Mo., and Karen Whitely of Leavenworth, Kan. as the leaders on the front line, while team co-captains Maureen Moses of Collinsville anchors down the midfielders. Defensively, the Cougars will stage several highly-contested battles for starting berths with Donna Shermeyer of St. Louis, Sheryl Boehm of Florissant, and Leigh Basarich of Collinsville. Tending the nets for the Cougars figures to be a battle between two freshmen, Laura Whetstone of Fairview Heights and Lisa Sarich of Granite City.

Reduced state funding causes the Venice schools to reduce budget

By ANGELA GRUPAS
of the Press-Record

Due to the reduction in state aid funding and corporate replacement monies, the tentative budget for the Venice School District has been cut by $108,000.

Since Governor James Thompson did not ask the Legislature for as much money for education as he did last year, the Venice school budget will not receive as much funding, it was announced at the Venice School Board meeting last week.

The education fund will be reduced by $73,000, making the new total, $1,113,591. The building fund will be reduced by $30,000, the new figure being $113,000, making there a need to borrow $30,000. The transportation fund will be reduced by $5,000, the new figure being $40,500, but there will be no need to borrow any funds. Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers stated that there will be no need to change the amount of expenditures.

"This new budget calls for more borrowing. There will not be as much income, and the expenditures will remain the same, so again, that means more borrowing," Vickers stated. "I see no problem in the near future about the new budget."

The tentative budget did not call for any borrowing, it was noted.

This new budget was adopted by the seven board members present, after a public hearing was conducted before the regular scheduled meeting.

A discussion was conducted dealing with the price of school lunches. Supt. Vickers pointed out that area schools have increased the price of hot lunches by five cents and if Venice would do the same, a $400 increase would result, based on last year's participation.

Last year, there were 8,900 paid lunches served, but Venice public schools lost $2,871 in the cafeteria.

"The new hours for the cafeteria and the salary increase have balanced out the cost to operate the cafeteria for the 1982-83 school year," Vickers added.

Members decided to wait until after December and keep the hot lunches at the same price.

All teacher appointments recommended by Superintendent Vickers were approved by the board members. Under discussion was the current kindergarten class. If less than 30 children enroll, the afternoon class must be dropped and that teacher used to aid other teachers in the school system. No action was taken at this time, however.

In other business, resolutions were adopted transferring $10,000 from the education fund to the building fund as part of a repayment of $20,000 borrowed from the building fund during last summer.

$4,000 from Title I to the building fund, $2,000 from the education fund to building fund and $1,000 from Title IV to the education fund. All of these were repayments, Vickers announced.

Bids were opened by Secretary George Wade concerning roof and boiler repairs. Whitehead Roofing and Insulation Co., bid $2,264 to do the needed work (reflashing) on the 1938 addition of the school building $1,949 to repair the flat roof area. Lakeside Roofing Co. submitted a bid of $60,946 for more detailed work on the damaged area. The two bids were referred to the building committee, which will tentatively meet on Tuesday, Sept. 14.

Kickham Boilers and Engineering, Inc., bid to replace 78 tubes used in the school's boiler system for a cost of $1,720, half the cost of American Boiler Service, Inc.'s bid.

"Since we have been allotted only $20,000 for all summer repairs, we will go with the cheaper bids and do just what is needed on the roof at this time," Vickers stated.

Vickers reminded members to search for 60-passenger used buses and readvertise for bids, since the price of a used bus will decrease about $500 if the school purchases one at the end of September or the beginning of October.

ATTEMPT ENTRY

Someone attempted to break into the Venice Post Office last week, it was reported by Virginia Buklad, of 6211 West Washington, Belleville, a postal employee who went to deliver the mail.

It was noted by authorities that someone attempted to pry the face plate off of the locking system. There were pry marks on the door frame near the lock and officers recovered the door knob on the ground at the door base.

$500 ANTIQUE TAKEN

A $500 antique silver coffee pot was taken in a burglary at the home of Jeanie Cottrell, 2431 Illinois Ave., authorities were told Thursday. Also missing are two $3 plastic flower vases. Entry was gained by damaging a window.

5 charges after fight with police

City charges of battery and aggravated assault were filed Thursday against Ronald E. Corey, 45, of 2471 Waterman Ave., who had been arrested by police at 2:20 a.m. that day at Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue for allegedly driving while under the influence of alcohol, passing a stop sign while westbound on Pontoon at Johnson Road, and resisting arrest.

Treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and then taken to the police building at 3:50 a.m., he was freed at 11:30 a.m. Thursday on $400 cash bail.

Officers contended that he declined to leave his van when arrested while he was purchasing gasoline at a service station, and that Patrolman Michael Gagich was twice struck with a fist about the mouth and nose. Corey received cuts about the head as two officers subdued and handcuffed him. At the SEMC emergency room, police and security personnel fought him when he declined to leave a police auto and also restrained him later as a physician and nurses sought to treat him, witnesses said. Official reports allege that he declined to take an alcohol breath test. His watch was located by police at the scene of the arrest and was returned to him.

ERA protestors agree to pay for cleanup

Seven women who splattered swine blood in the Illinois Capitol in late June during the final days of the Equal Rights Amendment's push for ratification, have pleaded guilty to negotiated charges and consented to pay the state $2,361 to clean up the mess.

Each ERA protestor agreed to pay $337 to clean Capitol floors and replace damaged flags. In return, felony vandalism charges against the women were reduced to misdemeanor status of damage to state property under $500.

Charges against an eighth protestor were dropped and a charge of obstructing justice was reduced to disorderly conduct when a ninth woman agreed to plead guilty to a lesser charge.

The women, members of the Chicago-based Grass Roots Group of Second Class Citizens, were arrested and charged with felony vandalism after they splashed swine blood in front of Governor James Thompson's office and the Senate Chambers following the Senate's rejection of the ERA.

The women could have been sentenced to up to a year in jail and a $500 fine each on the misdemeanor charges.

TRANSPORTING ARREST
Fred A. Smith, 35, of 623 Meredocia St., Venice, was charged with transporting a partly-filled whiskey bottle in an auto at 9:45 p.m. Thursday in the 1400 block of State Street. A companion was released to another police department for questioning. The car, occupied by three persons, initially was halted by police after officers were told it had been following another vehicle on Madison Avenue and State Street.

Census workshop set at SIUE

The Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CUERS) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a hands-on and informational workshop on accessing census data.

The two-day conference is scheduled Sept. 23 and 24 in the Dogwood-Maple Room of the University Center, from 8:30 until 4:30 p.m.

The workshop is geared both for new and experienced census users and is aimed at the St. Louis metropolitan area as well as the entire state of Illinois. Charles Kofron, coordinator for research data services, said Missouri users may also find the workshop useful even though Missouri has its own state data center.

The conference will feature sessions dealing with 1980 subject matter areas, census product availability, machine-readable data files (information stored on computer tapes), and CENSUS (a computer program prepared by the U.S. Census Bureau to extract information from census computer tapes) commands.

Through a computer "hands-on" workshop, participants will have the opportunity to direct CENSUS commands through the data processing facilities at the University.

Registration is $25 and does not include meals. Sessions at the computer are an additional $25. Special rates are available to students and to Mid-Illinois Computer Cooperative (MICO) users.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Kofron in the office of CUERS at the university by telephoning (618) 699-3032.

GC businessmen attend meeting

Bert and Steve Longht of Bert's Sales and Rentals, a Granite City based firm, attended the annual meeting of the Association of Progressive Rental Organizations (APRO) at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in New Orleans, this month.

Meetings and seminars were held discussing rental methods, pricing and the rental business in general according to the local men. Executives from top rental companies throughout the nation attended the sessions, they added.

During the various programs it was noted that in point of all television manufactured this year will be used as rental sets and it is speculated that by 1985 there will be 25 percent used as rentals.

Bert's has been in business here since 1948 and currently has four stores. They anticipate an estimated 20 stores in operation by 1985, the business men said.

The store, located at 1920 Delmar Ave., has a sales and service department as well as the rental agency, they explained.

Release GC youth after 300 pounds of marijuana seized in Missouri

James D. Murphy II, 52, of Phoenix, Ariz., was charged with possession of marijuana in excess of 35 grams following his arrest Aug. 22 by St. Charles County sheriff's deputies. He was later freed on $100,000 bond. The charge is a felony in Missouri.

Murphy and two others were arrested and 300 pounds of a substance believed to be marijuana were seized after sheriff's deputies stopped a car on Interstate 70 near Wentzville in St. Charles County. A 19-year-old Granite City youth and a 34-year-old St. Louis resident were released for lack of evidence, authorities said.

The substance was confiscated in several trash bags and authorities said they are convinced it is marijuana and believe it was freely picked from Southwestern Missouri, where the drug is reportedly being grown in large quantities and brought from the Ozarks to the St. Louis area.

Authorities said that Murphy and his companions were under surveillance as the result of a tip from an informant. Because officials were told the trio might be armed, a five-member tactical response team, using three marked cars and one unmarked car were sent out.

Official reports, however, said an inoperable car was found in the car.

The felony charge carries a maximum penalty for a first-time offender in a state facility or not more than one year in a county facility, and up to a $1,000 fine. Authorities were uncertain late last week if the offense was Murphy's first.

The arrests were made at 4 p.m. one mile west of the U.S. 40 and U.S. 61 interchange. Officials indicated last week that more arrests involving marijuana brought from Southern Missouri to the St. Louis area might be made.

MS telethon opens Sept. 5

KSDK's Cliff St. James, Denise D'Ascenzo and John Auble will co-host the "live" St. Louis area segments in the 17th annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, it has been announced.

The telethon will begin at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 5, and extend continuously until 5:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 6, Labor Day, on Channel 5.

St. James and D'Ascenzo, the well known co-hosts of Channel 5's "Midday AM," will be the hosts at, respectively, the Panorama Lanes in Belleville — a new and additional location this year — and the Grand Court Mall of Northwest Plaza, Lindbergh at St. Charles Road, Auble will anchor the reports from the Breckenridge Inn in Fontenac.

Local segments will be presented at 20 and approximately 50 minutes past each hour, although the segments from Panorama Lanes will not begin until the 7 a.m. hour on Labor Day.

Pledge centers in many outstate areas, a development of the telethon in recent years, will again be a feature, saving many viewers who wish to make pledges the cost of long distance calls. Centers are located in Alton, Washington Park, Edwardsville, Litchfield and Centralia, Ill., and Farmington, Sullivan, St. Charles, Troy, Franklin County and Crystal City, Mo.

Lewis will host the 17th annual national star-studded show from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, with Ed McMahon again as anchorman. Among the celebrities participating in the telethon are Wayne Newton, Frank Sinatra, Loretta Lynn, the Oak Ridge Boys, Tony Orlando, Sammy Davis Jr., Lola Falana, Don Rickles, Chubby Checker, Johnny Cash and Eddie Rabbit.

This is the ninth consecutive year that KSDK is the local outlet. It is one of more than 200 stations, including outlets in Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Guam, carrying the show.

Last year's telethon raised more than $32.1 million for the MDA's international fight against muscular dystrophy and related disorders. Of this total, $74,800 was pledged in the St. Louis viewing area.

St. Louis Telethon Chairman is John K. Wallace Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, Imperial Products Corp. Former Cardinal baseball star Stan Musial is the honorary chairman.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is spending over $1 million this year on its research and patient service programs here. The programs include the Jerry Lewis Neuromuscular Disease Research Center at Washington University Medical Center; individual research projects; free patient and diagnostic clinics; clinical fellowships, and free patient services including summer camps, physical therapy and orthopedic appliances.

Flat tire, 2 crashes while auto is parked

There was triple trouble Thursday night for the silver 1979 two-door auto of Paula Schuler of the 2500 block of Washington Avenue.

It was left parked facing south with a flat tire in the 2500 block of Washington.

Then, at 1:38 a.m. Friday, the northbound car of Ronald L. Lyerla, 42, of 2742 Washington Ave. veered to miss a dog and its front end hit the front and left side of the parked auto of Joseph Knoch of the 3200 block of Knoch Drive. The rear of the Knoch vehicle was knocked against the front of the Schuler car.

The latter auto was knocked backward about 20 feet and into the middle of the street. At 1:43 a.m., its right rear bumper was hit by the left front of the car of Wade Hannah, 24, of 2837 E. 20th St.

Hannah had made a left turn from 27th Street to go south on Washington and his auto skidded against the already damaged vehicle.

Lyerla suffered minor injuries and was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

School budget explains tight funds, will include even more data in '83

What is blue and pink and white and yellow and green? The 166-page Granite City school budget that is to be reviewed in detail by the Board of Education on Sept. 14.

Supt. B. J. Davis last week told the board, "The developing of the new budget has been an extra large undertaking this year, due to the fact that not only did it require the normal work of budgeting, but also is the first one tendered to the board under new state requirements for budgeting procedures and reporting."

"Finance Director Norman Owea, his staff, and all others who contributed to this year's budget are to be commended for a job well done."

"This budget reflects the expenditures we believe necessary to provide a sound comprehensive educational program to the pupils of this school district, while maximizing resources available," Davis said. The tentative total is $28,019,019.

"For your review, a summary of major forces affecting our revenues and expenses follows:

1. State guarantees — Each year the State of Illinois establishes a "guaranteed" amount, which schools may expect for each pupil, based on each school district's assessed valuation and tax rates. The higher such valuation, the less the state contributes.

"This year, because of decreased enrollments, we anticipate receiving $724,000 less general state aid than we received in 1981-82. For all intent and purpose, the state places a lid on district budgets unless local voters decide to tax themselves at a higher rate.

2. Pupil enrollment — Under the Illinois general state aid plan it is erroneously assumed that costs for operating programs go up or down with pupil enrollments. The formula allows no consideration for fixed or overhead costs (heat, insurance, maintenance, etc.) that must be maintained regardless of the pupil population.

"Therefore, as in our case, the revenue budget goes down with a decreasing enrollment while many of our more burdensome costs do not go down unless staff is reduced and/or buildings are abandoned.

3. Property values — Real property is, by state law, assessed at one-third of the fair market value for the purpose of taxing. This determines how much each district can generate in tax revenues.

"This, as mentioned earlier, has an effect on total revenue since it is tied into the general state aid formula."

4. Tax rates — These play a large role in determining local financial resources. In general, like property valuation, these are beyond the School Board's control.

"Property values are set by the market-place and the assessor. Maximum tax rates are set by the state and can only be increased by voter approval.

"The increase for this district has been reduced since 1978. The increase in taxes is brought about by increasing the assessed valuation in compliance with state law.

"Granite City school rates were $3.78 for 1978, $3.39 for 1979, $3.37 for 1980, $3.39 for 1981 and are estimated at $3.43 for 1982," Supt. Davis related.

"Approximately 87 percent of a school district's budget is devoted to personnel items — salaries and fringe benefits.

"The increase or decline in our pupil enrollment requires decisions affecting expenditures, since either will eventually require increasing or decreasing staff size and/or building facilities.

"However, the controls a board has in these areas are limited, since pupil enrollment is never uniform at all grade levels. As in our case, declines must accumulate over a period of time before the board can reduce staff.

"In the short term, the board can control costs only by fine-tuning such expenses as salaries, necessary building costs, material costs, and services.

"Beyond these basic expenditures, boards must provide programs required by state or federal law mandates. These include food operations, driver education, special education, bi-lingual education and transportation, to name some familiar to you all."

"While the state and federal governments provide some assistance in these areas, they do not fully underwrite the costs, leaving the balance to be assumed by the local schools.

"The aid provided by these sources, of course, is determined by the Illinois General Assembly and the United States Congress, respectively. The process is, however, the same."

Appropriations are formed in committee, based on recommendations from the executive branch and input by the legislative branch.

"The bills that come from these committees are then passed to the entire legislative body, where they can be amended or passed as presented.

"The version agreed upon by the legislative branch is sent on to the executive branch for approval.

"The executive branch is called Educational Services, Community Services, Non-Program Charges, Debt Services, and Provisions for Contingencies.

"These broad areas are divided into the many activities or actions which we perform to accomplish the objective of providing a good educational opportunity for our children.

"Each activity or action within the six major categories is then broken down into eight areas of expenses titled Wages, Employee Benefits, Purchased Services, Supplies and Materials, Capital Outlay, Other Objects, Transfers and Tuition, and a ninth area for a total.

"We will then record the individual transactions of the eight areas of expenses into more detail throughout the year for our year-end report.

"Then, for the 1983-84 budget, we will be prepared to present a more detailed budget plan than this 1982-83 budget."

"To reach our 1983-84 goal of a greater detailed, programmed budget than this 1982-83 budget plan, we have a list of detailed expenses under each of the eight major areas of expenses in each activity or action.

"Based on the past state requirements of record-keeping, it has been possible to project some of the detailed expenses, and we will do so again."

"An example is the expansion of our Educational Fund supplies and material costs. We previously required accounts to 44 new accounts."

"Therefore, where it has been possible to project detailed expenses, the total of that major area of expense will prevail for budgetary purposes until we record that entire area in detail for the year. Then we will be capable of presenting future budgets in more detail."

"The new budget plan, though impossible to compare to previous budgets except for final outcome, will enable us to also expand or reduce various categories of programs and income and expense accounts to meet our needs.

"1. Support various planning, programming, budgeting and evaluation systems.

"2. Report and compare at the local, state and federal levels.

"3. Conform to generally accepted governmental accounting principles.

"The 1982-83 budget also has a brief description of the purpose of various funds, activities or actions needed to support the purpose of our school system, which is to guide the student toward his or her maximum development based on his or her needs and interests in a democratic society.

"An example of an activity listed, but no expenses budgeted, would be adult education programs. There is currently no need for providing adult education, as Belleville Area College provides a day program at Washington School, and a program in the evening at South High School.

"This budget form has been approved by the Office of the State Superintendent of Education, is developed by the district business office, and provides for accrual accounting in addition to the standard cash flow.

"It is based on present factually information and realistic estimates. Revisions and adjustments will be necessary if changes in our planned revenues and expenses are implemented after adoption of the budget.

"Information in the budget provides, to the best of my knowledge, complete documentation of the 1982-83 requirements for the district at this time," Owea concluded.

"Also, Public Act 81-1003 stipulates that all school districts use a program accounting system."

"In keeping with this new requirement of program accounting, it has become necessary to change the way the state previously required our budgets and reports to be prepared. The new requirement allows us more flexibility to budget and report all income and expenses in each fund."

"The six major categories are called Educational Programs, Supporting Services, Community Services, Non-Program Charges, Debt Services, and Provisions for Contingencies.

"These broad areas are divided into the many activities or actions which we perform to accomplish the objective of providing a good educational opportunity for our children."

"Each activity or action within the six major categories is then broken down into eight areas of expenses titled Wages, Employee Benefits, Purchased Services, Supplies and Materials, Capital Outlay, Other Objects, Transfers and Tuition, and a ninth area for a total."

"We will then record the individual transactions of the eight areas of expenses into more detail throughout the year for our year-end report."

"Then, for the 1983-84 budget, we will be prepared to present a more detailed budget plan than this 1982-83 budget."

"To reach our 1983-84 goal of a greater detailed, programmed budget than this 1982-83 budget plan, we have a list of detailed expenses under each of the eight major areas of expenses in each activity or action."

"Based on the past state requirements of record-keeping, it has been possible to project some of the detailed expenses, and we will do so again."

"An example is the expansion of our Educational Fund supplies and material costs. We previously required accounts to 44 new accounts."

"Therefore, where it has been possible to project detailed expenses, the total of that major area of expense will prevail for budgetary purposes until we record that entire area in detail for the year. Then we will be capable of presenting future budgets in more detail."

"The new budget plan, though impossible to compare to previous budgets except for final outcome, will enable us to also expand or reduce various categories of programs and income and expense accounts to meet our needs.

"1. Support various planning, programming, budgeting and evaluation systems.

"2. Report and compare at the local, state and federal levels.

"3. Conform to generally accepted governmental accounting principles.

"The 1982-83 budget also has a brief description of the purpose of various funds, activities or actions needed to support the purpose of our school system, which is to guide the student toward his or her maximum development based on his or her needs and interests in a democratic society."

"An example of an activity listed, but no expenses budgeted, would be adult education programs. There is currently no need for providing adult education, as Belleville Area College provides a day program at Washington School, and a program in the evening at South High School.

"This budget form has been approved by the Office of the State Superintendent of Education, is developed by the district business office, and provides for accrual accounting in addition to the standard cash flow.

"It is based on present factually information and realistic estimates. Revisions and adjustments will be necessary if changes in our planned revenues and expenses are implemented after adoption of the budget.

"Information in the budget provides, to the best of my knowledge, complete documentation of the 1982-83 requirements for the district at this time," Owea concluded.

GC native to head SIUE relations department

Jack R. Dyer, a native Granite Cityan and director of public affairs for the St. Louis Public Schools, has been named executive director of university relations at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. SIUC President Albert Soniat announced the appointment, which is effective Oct. 1.

Dyer will plan and direct university media relations and supervise operations of such campus units as University News and Photographic Services, University Exhibits and University Graphics. He will report directly to Stanley McAnally, vice president for university relations and development, who described Dyer's chief responsibility as that for "planning and directing programs which will result in maximum public understanding and support of SIUC among its constituencies."

The title of Dyer's position at SIUC was changed from director of communication to reflect more accurately the broader range of duties and responsibilities, said McAnally.

The 46-year-old Dyer, who grew up in Granite City, is a 1968 bachelor's degree graduate of SIUC. He earned a master's degree at SIU at Edwardsville in 1962.

"During his five years as director, the St. Louis school system's public affairs office has won more than a dozen awards for public information efforts. Several of them — including the National School Public Relations Association's Gold Medal Award — have been won by Dyer's staff."

Dyer's chief responsibility is that for "planning and directing programs which will result in maximum public understanding and support of SIUC among its constituencies."

The resulting desegregation effort has been hailed as one of the nation's most successful. Dyer also coordinated campaign activities for a $20 million public schools bond issue and $26 million school tax levy in St. Louis.

After graduating from SIUC, Dyer taught five years in the Granite City school system (English, adult education and language arts), then went to SIUE as assistant head of Central Publications. His seven person staff there produced all of SIUE's printed material.

Five years later — in 1970 — he joined the New York publishing firm of McGraw Hill Inc. as a sponsoring editor, then went to the University of Rochester in 1972 as director of publications and associate director of public relations.

He joined the St. Louis Human Development Corp. in 1974, as coordinator of youth services, and a year later moved to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council as public information director. He took over as public affairs director for the public schools in 1977.

"I'm delighted to be returning home, as it were," Dyer said Friday. "I'm proud to be a graduate of SIU and have always had a warm place in my heart for the institution."

McAnally said Dyer "brings to SIUC a solid track record, obvious dedication to quality work and enthusiasm for the task ahead of him. His affection for the university has been apparent from our very first interview. We are very pleased that he has accepted."

Dyer was selected from a field of five final candidates for the appointment. A search committee received a total of 46 applications for the position.

Dyer is married to the former Judith Abernethy of Granite City. They have two children, Laura, 19, now a student at the University of Missouri at St. Louis, and Sean, 16.

Explorer Post 10-4 plans camping reunion

Former members of Explorer Post 10-4 are planning a reunion campout at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen, near Potosi, Mo. The event is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 10, 11 and 12.

Since the post was founded in October, 1969, parents and friends of former members are being asked to help obtain current mailing addresses of former members. Names, addresses and phone numbers may be mailed to Post Office Box 10-4, Madison, Ill. 62206.

The information needed also may be given to past post presidents Keith Sanders, 919 Lee St., Madison, phone 482-8213, or William Weidner, 1511 Third St., Madison, 878-1068.

Chairmen are former presidents John R. Hooks, Terry Toth and Tom Hooks. The Hooks brothers are charter members, having joined while teenagers in 1969.

According to Toth, wives are welcome, but due to the natural hazards, it is felt too dangerous for children.

"We are happy to have wives, but they should be prepared to rough it. There are no cabins or special facilities available," Toth said.

Details of costs, food and other arrangements will be sent to all those interested in attending.

John Hooks, the first president of Post 10-4, stressed that former members need to get their names and addresses into one of the former presidents or Post Office Box 10-4, Madison.

"We don't want any former member left out of the fun and fellowship planned during the weekend," Hooks said.

Post 10-4 is the oldest explorer post in the local area. It was founded in 1969 by W. F. "Mick" Strange.

Hope that auto emission testing here can be avoided

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The jury is still out on whether the Quad-Cities will have to start conducting automobile tests and inspections, but the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is hopeful that such inspections can be avoided.

Local air is continuing to improve, and the autos now being produced pollute less than older vehicles, IEPA officials pointed out this week.

The U.S. EPA has maintained that testing of vehicles must be started by the end of 1982 in communities like this, which have industries and a dense concentration of population.

But a U.S. House committee report on the 1977 Clean Air Act amendments says vehicle inspection-maintenance is only mandatory if air quality standards cannot be attained without it.

The Congressional report relates: "If at any time a state implementation plan (SIP) becomes adequate to attain and maintain the national ambient air quality standards in a timely fashion without reliance on vehicle inspection and maintenance (IM), then such a system would not be required."

The 1979 Illinois SIP for ozone and carbon monoxide contained a schedule for starting mandatory IM in the Chicago and Madison-St. Clair counties areas.

IM is a program in which cars and trucks are checked to determine whether they are emitting excessive pollution. Vehicles which fail the test must be repaired and then retested.

Many people mandatory inspections in the belief that testing errors and even fraud could occur, placing added cost and inconvenience on motorists.

James Maloney of the Illinois EPA says, "In 1979, we thought the emission reductions to be gained from a voluntary program would be essential in lowering ozone and carbon monoxide to safe levels by 1987."

"But shortly thereafter, the air quality picture began to change. Then, the first firm estimates on the cost of operating an inspection program came in. "Compared to the estimated cost of other emission control measures, IM costs looked unacceptably high."

"IEPA informed USEPA that the program costs were high, and that significant changes had to be made in the program's design before it could be implemented in Illinois."

In a letter to Gov. James R. Thompson April 30, 1982, USEPA Assistant Administrator Kathleen Bennett said the Clean Air Act requires states with air quality problems to implement IM, and that Illinois could lose federal air pollution program grant money for not following the schedule outlined in the 1979 SIP.

Despite this notification, IEPA maintains that USEPA has misinterpreted the law on the IM issue. The actual language of the Clean Air Act pertaining to IM says in Section 110(a)(2):

"The administrator shall, within four months after the date required for submission of a plan, approve or disapprove each plan, or any portion thereof, if he determines that it was adopted after reasonable notice and hearing and that it provides, to the extent necessary and practicable, for periodic inspection and testing of motor vehicles to enforce compliance with the applicable emission standards."

Maloney and IEPA Director Richard J. Carlson regard the words "necessary and practicable" as important.

To determine what Congress intended when the IM language was added to the 1970 Clean Air Act in 1977, IEPA went to the Congressional report on the amendments and found:

"Additionally, the legislation provides that states must require inspection of motor vehicles in actual use by the secretary after consultation with the state—determines that the achievement of ambient air quality standards requires such inspection and that such inspection is technologically and economically feasible."

Maloney says, "This language helps to clarify what Congress meant by necessary and practicable.

"Necessary means necessary to achieve ambient air quality standards. 'Practicable' means that it is determined to be technologically and economically feasible. We believe IM does not pass the necessary and practicable test in Illinois."

"IEPA expects the ozone and carbon monoxide standards to be attained without IM. And we emphasize that, compared to other emission reduction techniques, IM is one of the most costly."

He adds, "If neither Illinois nor the federal government were to adopt a single additional air pollution regulation, there is a chance that both ozone and carbon monoxide concentrations would drop to safe levels by 1987 in both the Chicago and East St. Louis areas."

"According to the St. Louis metropolitan area air quality analysis, industry and auto emissions need to be reduced anywhere from 16 to 34 percent in bringing ozone levels below the standard."

"If 16 percent is all that is necessary, the standard would have been achieved by the end of 1981."

"The air quality analysis for the Chicago area indicates anywhere from a 0 to 11 percent reduction in emissions from 1980 should be enough to lower ozone to an acceptable level. Current regulations should do that."

The current program has two basic components.

"All of the Illinois Pollution Control Board regulations for volatile organic compound stationary source emitters, including those regulations the board proposed on May 27, 1982, to adopt, make up one component."

"The second component is the Federal Motor Vehicle Control Program, which sets pollution control performance requirements for new autos and trucks."

"According to our calculations, these two sets of emission control regulations should reduce volatile organic compound emissions in the St. Louis area by 33 percent between 1980 and 1987."

Campaign book prepared on taxpayer's time

"The Thompson Record," a book detailing Gov. James R. Thompson's years in office, has been produced by state employees on government time without many of the officials quoted knowing that their quotes were to be used for Thompson's campaign purposes.

Highlighting and outlining Thompson's accomplishments throughout his administration years, "The Thompson Record" is being distributed by the Citizens for Thompson to news editors throughout the state of Illinois.

In a letter enclosed in "The Thompson Record," Campaign Director Bob Kjellander stated, "Every chapter will also include a list of people who can provide you with further information or answer any questions you may have. Please feel free to contact them for clarification of the material."

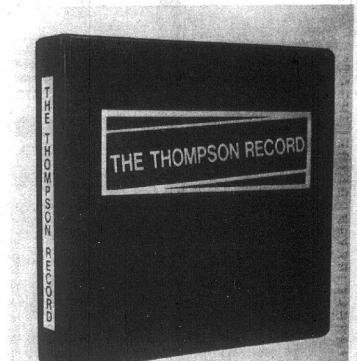

Without permission, many of the researchers for the project have been listed as references for the news media to contact for questions concerning Thompson's career. The public information officials who did the research also claim that they were surprised to know their work was used for campaign purposes.

"I was surprised to find my name listed in 'The Thompson Record.' Never did I know nor expect that my name would be issued by the Citizens for Thompson," Tom Laue, public affairs division manager for the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, told the Press-Record Friday.

"The governor asked for help compiling information for Thompson's record and I was glad to help, but I wish someone would have asked me before they printed my name," Laue stated.

Other researchers for the project object to having their name published as a source. Although the "campaign piece" was comprised on government time, spokesman defend the project by saying that the compiled for the governor's staff's business, but now is being used to supply news media personnel with a record of Thompson's political life. Kjellander describes "The Thompson Record" as "his nearly six years in office and his plans for the future of Illinois."

Approximately 800 sets of the book, in hard binders, are being distributed to news editors throughout the state.

The Citizens for Thompson group is distributing the material at its own expense, costing approximately $10,000 to $12,000 for printing and distribution.

150 attend Paddlers' anniversary

A crowd of 150 gathered at Paddlers' Swim Club recently to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the club. Judge Horace Calvo and Keith Parker, first manager and swim coach at Paddlers, spoke during the evening, which included dinner and dancing.

Francis McBride, present president, served as master of ceremonies. He congratulated swim coach Celeste Sonnenberg, her assistant, Mike Burnworth, and diving coach Gayle McCormick for winning both championships again this year.

McBride also explained the concept behind the Paddlers' organization. The idea of a neighborhood pool was conceived by his late wife, Vera, in 1954. He said, Mrs. McBride served as the first president in 1957. That same year, the McBrides were introduced to Calvo, who became the pool's legal advisor, helped with incorporation and handled a federal estate tax case with the Internal Revenue Service. Calvo was made a director in 1958 and served on the advisory board for 14 years.

After introducing Calvo, McBride turned to a more in-depth history of the pool and its expansion under Parker's management. "The pool opened on June 22, 1957, with less than 300 memberships and by Dec. 31, 1957, there were only 295 shares subscribed of which 72 were being paid on the installment basis. This was not good," McBride said.

Needless to say, membership by June 1, 1958, the pool brought Parker in. "The word got around that Paddlers had a terrific manager, so nice with the children and a good disciplinarian, that membership started to increase. I believe that his ability to handle and deal with children was responsible for Paddlers' eventually attaining a total membership of 400," McBride said.

Following the speeches, members and guests were entertained with music by Tom Flynn and swimming and volleyball. Attendance prizes also were given.

Those guests attending the 25th anniversary celebration were: McBride and his wife, Charlotte; Calvo and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Loftus; Mr. and Mrs. Al Malott; Mr. and Mrs. Andy Gilchoff; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Range; Dr. and Mrs. Ben Rose; Mr. and Mrs. Al Barnes; Mr. and Mrs. Butch Peterson; Mr. and Mrs. Don Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buenger; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Binson; Mr. and Mrs. Larry McCormick; Mr. and Mrs. John Suarez; Mrs. Mary Jensen; Celeste Sonnenberg and Mike Burnworth.

Park board to accept bids

Bids will be accepted in the near future by the Granite City Park Board of Commissioners for two projects and the purchase of a new vehicle.

The board approved the drawing up of bid specifications for two projects at the Lincoln Place Community Center. These projects include the conversion of the building's furnace from oil to natural gas and the sand blasting and tuck pointing of the exterior of the brick structure.

Also approved was the drawing up of bid specifications for the purchase of a pickup truck for the district. All three calls for bids will be published as soon as possible and the bids will be opened at the Sept. 22 regular meeting of the board.

The commissioners approved the purchase of a used Slush Puppie soft drink machine for $900. The machine has been used this summer at the swimming pool concession stand and has proved to be financially successful.

A discussion also was held by the board members on possible future projects and purchases by the district. A new tractor, to be used for both dragging baseball diamonds and pulling mowers, was one of the possibilities discussed.

It was reported that the Gardenview Garden Club will donate several Forsythia bushes for the beautification of Searles Park on Franklin Avenue.

It was noted that forfeit fees are being returned to those teams not having forfeited any games during the past season. Of the 163 teams participating this summer, only 30 lost the $25 fee.

A picnic for park district employees and their families is set for tonight at Shelter No. 2. In the event of rain the picnic will be held in the ice rink.

MEGSI to benefit from illicit drug profits

Legislation that will provide nearly $1.5 million in funding for Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) agencies from the drug profit of persons convicted of narcotics violations has been signed into law by Governor James R. Thompson.

"This plan will provide the money needed for the program without putting an additional burden on the taxpayers and law-abiding citizens of Illinois and will work to take the profit out of breaking our drug laws," the governor said.

House Bill 2450 creates the Narcotics Profit Forfeiture Act, which calls for the profits of drug transactions to be turned over to the state. It also sets the levels of funding that local law enforcement agencies and prosecutors will receive from those drug profits.

"When I presented my budget for Fiscal Year 1983 in March, I said that I would consider a reasonable proposal to fund local drug law enforcement agencies. As a result, legislation was presented in the General Assembly to fund those agencies and I am pleased to sign it today," Thompson said.

The local government whose officers or employees conducted the investigation, arrest and prosecution of drug violations will receive 50 percent of the money taken from drug profits. The Drug Traffic Prevention Fund, which will help fund MEG units in Fiscal Year 1984, will get 25 percent of the funds.

The remaining 25 percent of the funds will be divided between states attorneys in the counties of prosecution to aid them in fighting drug traffic in their regions, and a special fund that will be used by the State Attorneys Appellate Service Commission to help pay additional expenses resulting from the act.

Thompson explained that the first $1.46 million collected from drug sale profits after expenses will be used to reimburse the General Revenue Fund for the cost of MEG funding.

A similar program has been used in Florida, where $2 million from drug profits were collected in the first year of the program's use, and in Arizona, where $4 million was obtained.

The Governor commended Attorney General T. F. Finner and Department of Law Enforcement Director James Zagel for their efforts in drafting the legislation with local MEG officials from around Illinois.

"Their efforts," he said, "literally helped save an effective and necessary program that would have had its funding reduced because of declining resources in a tight budget year."

Consistent with the requirements of FCC rule 76.31, any modification or amendment thereof by the FCC shall to the extent applicable, be considered to be part of this franchise as of the effective date of such amendment, and shall be incorporated herein by specific amendment hereto within one (1) year of the date of such amendment or the FCC's amendment or at the time of renewal of this franchise, whichever occurs first.

SECTION 27: Franchise Fee. Grantee shall pay to the City an annual franchise fee in the amount of five percent (5%) of the local gross subscriber revenues. Should similar fee payments be required by a state agency now or subsequently charged with the regulation of cable television, the fees provided for herein and the fees payable to said state agency when added together, shall not exceed the maximum amount permitted by applicable federal law, rules or regulations. The Company shall furnish the City with an annual report showing the Company's annual gross subscriber revenues during the preceding year and such other information as the City may reasonably require with respect to properties and expenses related thereto.

SECTION 28: New Developments. It shall be the policy of the City to liberally amend this franchise, upon application of the grantee whenever necessary to enable the grantee to take advantage of any developments in the field of transmission of television and radio signals which will afford it an opportunity to more effectively, efficiently, or economically serve its customers. Provided, however, that this section shall not be construed to require the City to make any amendment or to prohibit it from unilaterally changing its policies as stated herein.

SECTION 29: Forfeiture of Franchise. In addition to all other rights and powers pertaining to the City by virtue of this franchise or otherwise, the City reserves the right to terminate and cancel this franchise and all rights, privileges of the grantee hereunder in the event that the grantee:

A. Violates any provisions of this franchise or any rule, order or determination of the City or the Board made pursuant to this franchise except where such violation is without fault on the part of the grantee;

B. Becomes insolvent, unable or unwilling to pay its debts, or is adjudged a bankrupt.

Such termination or cancellation shall be by ordinance to be adopted after 30 days written notice to the grantee and shall in no way affect any of the City's rights under this franchise or under any provision of law. In the event that such termination and cancellation depends upon the finding of fact, such finding of fact shall be made by the Board, or its representatives and shall be conclusive. Provided, however, that before this franchise may be terminated and cancelled under this section, the grantee must be provided with an opportunity to be heard before the Board, and corrections made.

SECTION 30: Severability. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause phrase or any portion of this ordinance for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed separate, distinct and independent provision and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions thereof.

SECTION 31: Ordinance Repealed. All prior ordinances or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 32: Effect. This ordinance shall become effective upon publication.

PASSED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF VENICE, ILLINOIS, this 24th day of August, A.D., 1982.

APPROVED BY THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF VENICE, ILLINOIS, this 24th day of August, A.D., 1982.

They also have the animal kingdom's highest sensitivity to electrical fields, which helps them find hidden prey and may also let them orient themselves in the open sea by taking a fix from the Earth's magnetic field.

Playing corpse isn't easy

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — "The Blue and the Gray," a story of a family during the Civil War, will be CBS's most ambitious mini-series project to date when it airs in November, and for actor GERALD S. O'LOUGHLIN, who has a pivotal role, it was an experience not soon forgotten.

"I've got a great death scene," Gerald said. "But it was literally painful."

He portrays a Union sergeant named O'Toole, who gets shot in the head during the Wilderness Campaign, a fierce battle. After his body falls, he is discovered by the sketch artist who has been following the troops.

"I had to lie absolutely lifeless while the fire is going on," Gerald related. "I had to be a corpse with his eyes open so the other character could come and close them. In that situation you've got to be absolutely lifeless, but the flames were licking at my hands. It wasn't easy."

Although he's not fully aware of his personal family history, Gerald knows his family goes back in the Northeast since the 1800s and mementos from the past helped him in his role.

In one scene he has to show the recruits how to load a muzzle-loading rifle, which was used during the War Between the States.

"Luckily I knew about it," he said. "My grandmother had one in her closet and when I was 10 I learned how to fire it. I got permission to rewrite one scene so the business with the rifle was clear."

Although he has praise for the folks of Fayetteville, Ark., where his four weeks of work were filmed, Gerald is happy to return to his home in Los Angeles, where he says he leads a life that is essentially "anti-social. I don't give a lot of parties, so I don't get invited to many parties."

Besides "Blue and Gray," the former star of the TV series "The Rookies" is awaiting release of "Frances," a feature about the life of actress Frances Farmer that stars JESSICA LANGE. He plays an unscrupulous psychiatrist.

Currently divorced, Gerald says that when he's not working he "goes crazy. You can't have a hobby when you're unemployed. When you're working all week, you can."

DICK VAN PATTEN wants to do another series, and he has in mind what is being described as an "updated Ozzie and Harriet Nelson and family" for NBC. Dick would star with his wife and three sons — JIMMY, VINCE and NELS — all playing roles similar to those in real life.

The series would be co-produced by the company owned by BRUCE JENNER, who, incidentally, was so enamored with series life when he appeared in those episodes of "CHiPs" last year that he wants a show of his own. Please note, there was never any talk that he'd return to "CHiPs" when LARRY WILCOX departed.

"Fame" is turning into a family act. ALBERT HAGUE's wife has written an episode for the series next season. Meanwhile, rumors are still running that PATRICK CASSIDY, brother of SHAUN and DAVID, will join the cast. He's currently starring on Broadway in "Pirates of Penzance."

CBS will be meshing two series, "Magnum P.I." and "Simon & Simon" together for a special two-hour show this fall. The TOM SELLECK "Magnum" is a big hit and "Simon" needs its help. MORGAN FAIRCHILD will guest star.

TV homes with HBO will have a chance to see MILTON BERLE in a series of specials highlighting his career, past and present. Berle's family will participate as well.

PIA ZADORA may never win an Oscar, but her character gets to accept an Academy Award in "Lonely Lady," an upcoming film in which she plays a scriptwriter. Word is her husband, MESHULAM RIKLIS, put up half the money for the film.

MISCELLANEA: Production began recently on "Psycho II," the Universal Pictures sequel to the Alfred Hitchcock classic chiller. And the original stars are back. Well, at least two of them — Anthony Perkins and Vera Miles.

Rare indeed is the actor who appreciates his agent. Well, superstar Richard Gere (well, he's almost a superstar) appreciates his William Morris Agency mentor, Ed Limato, so much he tossed him a surprise birthday party and gave him a Betamax to boot.

The Rolling Stones, the oldest established permanent floating institution in the world, travel with a manual. The document details their demands, like special foods, special drinks and a team of doctors and nurses to be in attendance. For their Aug. 24 gig in Ireland they annexed a new requirement — a psychiatrist on the premises. Whether he's for the Stones, or the audience is unclear.

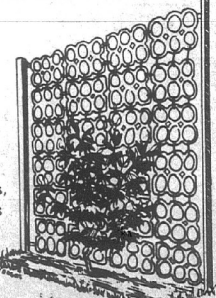

Make a trellis with plastic six-pack holders.

THESE SIX-PACK HOLDERS MAKE EXCELLENT, LONG-LASTING TRELLISES.

Attach them together with "twist-ems." Hang trellis in your garden or against a wall.

Let sweet pea, vines, grapes, or tomatoes grow up trellis.
